SUGAR LOBBY PAID $2,500 PER MONTH FOR ITS PUBLICITY

Letter to Sidney Ballou Read Before Senate Lobby Probe Saying Press Service Had Guaranteed 50,000 Lines

DR. WILEY AGREED TO LECTURE FOR LOBBY?

Correspondence Says That the Pure Food Man Had Made Proposition Which Was Accepted; Later Wiley Declined

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—More letters and telegrams from files of the anti-free sugar "lobby" put into the record of the senate investigating committee today purported to show that the best sugar men furnished the sugar tariff arguments contained in the Republican national campaign text book of 1912; engaged Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, former government pure food chief, to deliver lectures; expressed "great doubt," of former President Taft's ability to carry such states as California, Idaho, Utah and Colorado and added "if we don't head him off we might be able to get a promise relative to the sugar and tobacco industries."

Henry T. Oxnard and Truman G. Palmer, through their attorney, protested that the committee had no authority to bring in correspondence dated prior to the present session of congress on the ground that it was authorized only to investigate a lobby threatened pending legislation.

Many of the letters referred to activities of years ago.

After the committee considered their objection in executive session Chairman Overman announced that all Oxnard and Palmer letters would be admitted on the ground that they were corroborative evidence to testimony already heard.

"The committee believes these letters are corroborative to testimony that has been given here that there is a lobby in this country for the reduction of the sugar tariff," said the chairman.

"These letters are admissible as evidence, we believe, as showing a common design and plan on what has been done in the past and what is being done here now to oppose the sugar tariff reduction."

Friends of Oxnard and Palmer declared an effort would be made to have the senate limit the scope of the committee's investigation.

The character of the publicity sought by beet sugar men was outlined in one of the unsigned letters in the Hamlin correspondence addressed to Sidney Ballou, an active figure in the Hawaiian sugar organization. It said the beet sugar men had made a contract with the Press Service company at $2,500 a month for publicity.

GUARANTEED 50,000 LINES.

"They guarantee the publication of 50,000 lines a month of matter pertaining to the sugar industry," the letter added.

Another unsigned letter dater May 2, 1912, addressed to Sidney Ballou, said: "I believe that our greatest opportunity for publicity will arise in connection with the national campaign. The Republican party will of necessity be compelled to make the tariff an issue and the fight will probably center around sugar.

"We are in touch with those who are preparing the Republican campaign book and this sugar question will be handled subject to our approval.

"In fact, the matter is being furnished by us. As soon as the conventions are over it is our purpose to get in touch with the campaign managers with a view to having their speakers fully posted upon the sugar question.

"In fact, I am personally of the opinion that it would be well for us to put a few good men on the campaign committee who will give particular attention to sugar. I believe that more people are to be reached in this way than in any other."

DR. WILEY IN NET?

"You asked me particularly with reference to Dr. Wiley. As you were advised, the doctor made us a proposition for lectures which was accepted. When he got into harness, however, he found that he had undertaken more than he could perform and asked to be released. We did not deem it wise to insist and we felt it highly desirable to have Dr. Wiley's friendship and co-operation. He had agreed, however, to deliver a few lectures.

"By looking carefully after the publicity end of these lectures we believe we can secure some good results.

"Gentlemen, please, we expect to avail ourselves of any avenue of publicity where the results promised seem to justify the expenditure."

Another letter objected to by Yerkes was unsigned, addressed to Henry T. Oxnard, and dated at Chicago in April, 1907. It said in part:

"Major Gove is showing anxiety about either buying or starting a paper as well as securing the columns of an influential eastern daily and a large line of 'patent insides.'

"Mr. Collings is very anxious about the Taft situation and hopes that there will be some way to make it known that there will be great doubt about his ability to carry such states as California, Idaho, Utah, Colorado and that if we can't head him off we might be able to get a promise relative to the sugar and tobacco industries."

TO BROADEN SCOPE.

Senator Norris today proposed a resolution to broaden the powers of the lobby committee to call Robert S. Lovett, of New York, to explain statements that Union Pacific and Southern Pacific authorities has been approached by persons professing to have influence in the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific dissolution proceedings.

More letters and telegrams from private files of men at the head of the anti-free sugar fight began going into the record of the senate lobby investigating committee when it resumed work today.

From the large number of letters and telegrams which the committee had summarily subpoenaed from beet sugar

LIVELY TIMES TUESDAY AT BIG CHRISTIAN-BAPTIST PICNIC

The woods at Grant park were full of picnickers Tuesday afternoon, when the First Christian and Second Baptist Sunday schools held their joint celebration of the recent contest between them. In the big picture some of the fair ones are seen blindfolding John S. Spalding, superintendent of the Second Baptist school. Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist, is seen about to bat one over the trees, in the picture at the right. He played on the Baptist team through a hard game. Below appears Miss Louise Taylor, one of the First Christian maids, with two basket loads of chocolate cake and pickles and olives and boiled eggs and sandwiches and all the rest of it.

HOSPITAL NURSE FOUND ABED, DRUGGED, ROBBED

Marks of fingers were plainly visible on her throat, it is said. A handkerchief once saturated with chloroform was spread across her face. The room had been ransacked. Later it was ascertained that $160 in cash and a gold watch were missing.

Outside the open window of her room, which is on the first floor, is a porch. On it detectives found the tracks of bare feet, made evidently, they said, by a woman or child. Whether some one connected with the sanitarium or some outsider committed the robbery, detectives have not shown.

When Miss Skelton was found early Wednesday morning, the effects of the chloroform still clogged her brain. She gave the officers a rambling account of the night as she remembered it.

About 11 o'clock Tuesday night she retired, said Miss Skelton. One door to her room was left locked, the other unlocked. The window opening upon the porch was left open. About 1 o'clock Wednesday morning, Miss Skelton said, she has a vague remembrance of some one grasping her, around the throat. Then she became unconscious. She remembered nothing more until daylight.

At 6:30 o'clock Miss Pauline Bogan, the night nurse, entered Miss Skelton's room to arouse her. She saw Miss Skelton lying in bed with the handkerchief over her face. The room had been ransacked, all the bureau drawers thrown open, and things turned topsy-turvy generally.

When officers were called they found a bottle of chloroform near the bed. The label had been torn off, and it was not identified as any bottle belonging to the hospital. The tracks were found on the porch. They had been made, it appeared by wet feet. Their small size and the shape led detectives to think that a woman or possibly a boy committed the theft, crawling through the window from the porch to Miss Skelton's room.

Dr. W. W. Lingo, who conducts the Red Cross sanitarium, is in Baltimore. He is expected back this week.

Detectives have offered no solution as to who the thief was. They are on the lookout for the gold watch which was taken, and have several other clues to aid them.

AMERICAN CONSUL SAVES FRENCHMAN IN MEXICO

PARIS, June 18.—The life of a Frenchman taken prisoner by the federal troops in Mexico was saved by the intervention of Jesse P. Johnson, American consul at Matamoras, according to information which reached the French foreign office today. Pierre Barnatche, who was suspected of favoring the revolutionists, had been arrested and was about to be executed by the federal military authorities when Mr. Johnson protested and gained his release.

D. C. Curtis Seeks Divorce, Declaring His Girl Wife Told Him She Believed in "the Doctrine of Affinities and That Time Would Come When People Would Not Marry Anymore"

The disillusionment which overtook him when his seventeen-year-old bride frankly confessed that she was a believer in the "theory of affinities" caused D. C. Curtis to ask for a divorce, according to the suit brought in superior court Wednesday against Mrs. Katherine Curtis.

Curtis told the court that his girl-wife lived on love stories and a longing to become an actress so that she might dazzle a score or so of prospective affinities over the footlights.

This longing to go on the stage, he asserted, became an obsession, and she painted her face and dressed gaudily so that his friends would take her for an actress. All of which, Curtis maintained, was extremely humiliating to say the least.

"NO MORE MARRYING."

"About a month before the separation," runs the divorce petition, "she told the petitioner that she believed in the doctrine of affinities, and that the time would come when people would not marry any more."

Curtis, she said, so the suit sets forth, could not inspire love in her, for she loved another man who did not love her, and she would never be happy again. She married him, she said, to spite the other man and to get herself off her father's hands. Satins, automobiles and diamonds, she said, could not appease her, for she never expected to be happy again, Curtis declared.

"Three or four weeks after the marriage," he averred "she urged him to do some act of violence towards her, either to drink or strike her or leave her, so that she could have some ground for getting a divorce."

Among other things Curtis charged against his seventeen-year-old wife, who, he asserted, had left him for her parents' home in West Point were:

"Within a few weeks after said marriage defendant, who was only seventeen years old, told petitioner she did not love him, and thereupon inserted an advertisement in the newspapers seeking a job on the stage as an actress.

READ LOVE STORIES.

"She would spend her entire time while at home in reading novels and love stories. She would refuse to get out of bed until 10 o'clock in the morning, and thn refuse to clean or arrange the room. A month after the marriage she told the petitioner that she had married him because she loved another, but that he did not love her, and she married petitioner for spite. Defendant frequently met said man up town and went to picture shows and other places with him.

"All of which conduct greatly vexed, mortified and humiliated petitioner.

"About this time defendant told petitioner that she did not love him at all; that she married him just to get off her father's hands. During the whole time they lived together defendant was constantly flirting with men at theaters and in street cars.

"Petitioner further shows that he was devoted to the defendant and had great love and affection for her, and her conduct and actions continually preyed upon his mind."

Expects to Make Bad Boy Good By Skull Operation

(By Associated Press.)

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—An operation which the surgeons declare will make a good boy out of eight-year-old Claire H. Jamison was performed yesterday in the West Philadelphia Homeopathetic hospital, when a piece of bone two inches long and one inch wide was removed from the boy's skull.

The child, it was stated, was a good boy when he first went to school three years ago. His second year he was not quite so good, and since then he has been a terror to his teachers, parents and other children. An X-ray operation disclosed the fact that there was a depression in his skull, probably the result of a fall or a blow, which the surgeons say caused the change in the boy's deportment.

FUND GROWS FOR THE SLAIN DEPUTY'S FAMILY

Steady Stream of Dollars Is Pouring In—Six Children and Widow Need All

The fund subscribed for the destitute family of Bob Yancey, the deputy sheriff who died before the knife of a negro assassin Monday afternoon, reached $814.75 at noon Wednesday, counting money received from all sources.

Contributions to the fund have come quickly and in generous numbers. The subscription list was started Monday afternoon with $25. The amount totals over $800 now, and promises to reach the thousand dollar mark before every one is through giving.

By the time The Journal went to press Tuesday afternoon $514.90 had been received for the stricken family, an amount which was nearly doubled before noon Wednesday. At the sheriff's office and the offices of all local newspapers subscriptions poured in all day from the officers of the detective and police departments, from state and city officials, from fraternal and social organizations, from business firms and from individuals in every walk of life.

The money is a godsend to the Yan-

WILL REUBEN R. ARNOLD AID FRANK'S DEFENSE?

Mr. Arnold and Luther Z. Rosser Both Decline to Discuss Report Circulated

The rumor that Reuben R. Arnold, famous Georgia lawyer, will be associated with the defense of Leo M. Frank, indicted for the Mary Phagan murder, is persistent.

Luther Z. Rosser, who has been retained in the case since Frank was first arrested, refused to deny or affirm the rumor. It is intimated, however, that negotiations are not complete as yet.

Mr. Arnold himself, when questioned about the rumor, refused to discuss it in any way, and his silence has added weight to the report that he will be in the case.

With Luther Rosser and Reuben Arnold leading the defense of Frank one of the greatest legal battles in a criminal case in the history of the south is promised. Mr. Arnold and Mr. Rosser have been pitted against each other in the famous McNaughton-Flanders case and in other well known trials, and each time they met there was a legal battle royal. With the two famous lawyers together, a hard and brilliant fight is certain to be given Hugh M. Dorsey, and Frank A. Hooper, the experienced prosecutor who has been engaged to assist the state in the case.

Despite the entry of Mr. Arnold there is said to be little chance that Solicitor Dorsey will have assistance other than that of Mr. Hooper.

DATE OF TRIAL.

Mr. Arnold during the past several weeks has been engaged in the trial before an auditor of the famous Crawford will case. He is said to have closely followed the many developments in the Phagan murder investigation, however, and if he enters the trial it will not mean necessarily that a postponement will be asked by the defense, although it will make a postponement of the trial more probable.

The calendar for the criminal division of the superior court for the week commencing June 23 has been made up and published by E. A. Stephens, the assistant solicitor general.

The calendar for the week commencing June 30 will not be made up until the return next Sunday of Solicitor General Dorsey from Atlantic City, according to Mr. Stephens, who states that as yet he is not certain that the

HEAT WAVE GOT EARLY START ON WEDNESDAY

Mercury Again Reached 96 Degrees and City Sweltered, Breeze Helped

Another sweltering day was all that the weather forecaster could promise Atlantians Wednesday, when at 7 a. m. the needle of the weather instrument on the top floor of the Empire building, showed that it was then 78—the highest it had reached at that hour this summer. Tuesday started at 7 o'clock in the morning with 72, and then jumped to 96.4.

Weather Forecaster Von Herrmann sees no change from the heat wave which is over the country everywhere east of the Mississippi. St. Louis and Louisville had the distinction of being the hottest places on the map, Tuesday, with 98 as the highest. Atlanta had plenty of company, with her own record of 96.

No rain is in sight. Another hot day is predicted for Thursday.

It appears that before the week is over the heat wave may break a record for long distance temperatures, in Atlanta as well as many other places.

It was 89 at 10 a. m. Wednesday, 93 at noon and at 2 o'clock had reached 96, the high mark of Tuesday.

Zeppelin Plans a Three-Day Flight Across Atlantic

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, June 18.—"Count Zeppelin and his technical staff at Friedrichshafen are convinced that the modern dirigible airship can cross the Atlantic," says a Berlin dispatch to the London Express, "and it is probable that a voyage from Germany to New York will be undertaken this summer."

Count Zeppelin is said to have been in communication with the German government, which is disposed to regard his plan favorably, and in the event of the voyage being undertaken several German warships would be stationed in the Atlantic to render assistance. Count Zeppelin believes that, with good weather the voyage could be made within three days.

CARNEGIE'S GIFT TO VANDERBILT IS SCORED BY BISHOP

Bishop W. A. Candler Declares $1,000,000 to Vanderbilt University Is Not "a Donation, but a Denaturing"

"IMPUDENT PROPOSAL OF AGNOSTIC STEEL-MONGER"

Declares Carnegie Is Dangling Money Before Public to Influence Decision in Litigation Pending Over University

The recently announced gift of $1,000,000 to the Vanderbilt university, of Nashville, Tenn., by Mr. Andrew Carnegie is, in the opinion of Bishop Candler, not so much a donation to the university as an attempt to "denature the institution."

To a representative of The Journal Bishop Candler said Wednesday:

"This loud-heralded gift appears, on close inspection of the terms of the offer, to be no gift at all, but a shrewd attempt to get control of a part of the property of Vanderbilt university in order to set up a medical school fashioned according to the peculiar ideas of Mr. Carnegie and his educational employes.

"In the first announcement of the so-called gift the essential terms of the gift and the expressions of purpose accompanying it were held back. The request of a member of the board of trust, even, who asked to see the papers in the case, was refused. What was contained in the letter of Mr. Carnegie was not known to any one outside an inner circle until last Monday, when the board of trust met. The matter was so serious that Major Millsaps, a member of the board of trust from Mississippi, moved that the question of accepting the gift be postponed until the members of the board could have time to consider it. This motion was rejected, and the motion to accept the gift put through with inconsiderate haste. On Tuesday four of the board of trust offered a protest against the acceptance of the Carnegie proposals. When the public sees Mr. Carnegie's letter the protest of these worthy gentlemen will be generally approved, if I am not greatly mistaken.

BELONGS TO METHODISTS.

"The Vanderbilt university belongs to the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The church's ownership having been denied, suit was brought by order of the general conference some time ago to settle the question, and the chancery court decided every point in favor of the church. From that decision those who deny the church's rights took an appeal, which is now pending in the supreme court of Tennessee. To this Mr. Carnegie makes allusion in his letter, putting his offer in such relation to this suit as to make it tantamount to dangling money before the public with the purpose of influencing the case. He also denies the ability of any and all ecclesiastics to manage and control educational institutions—a preposterous piece of ignorance and conceit—a assertion which the whole history of education in christendom for a thousand years contradicts. His expressions about the churches are so discreditable to him as his conditioning a gift on the result of a pending suit is indecent.

"But I need not comment on the proposal. It speaks for itself. Without Edenic innocence Mr. Carnegie is in this letter like Adam in paradise, "naked and not ashamed."

Here is his letter:

MR. CARNEGIE'S LETTER.

576 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Dr. J. H. Kirkland, Secretary Executive Committee Trustees Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.

My Dear Sir. I have given careful consideration to your letter of May 1, written on behalf the trustees of Vanderbilt university, inviting me to contribute a million dollars for the establishment upon a sound foundation of a medical school of modern type in the south. After consultation with those familiar with the situation of this country I am convinced that the sum of money you mention could be wisely devoted to a medical school in Nashville. I approve thoroughly your suggestion that this gift be conditioned on the ap-

FULL ATTENDANCE URGED FOR W. & A. MEETING

Chairman W. A. Wimbish Is Anxious That All Chamber Members Attend

On the eve of the general meeting of the chamber of commerce to discuss the advisability of calling a state convention upon the future of the Western and Atlantic railroad, W. A. Wimbish, chairman of the Western and Atlantic committee, issued a statement urging every member of the organization to be present and lend his support to the end in view. The meeting is called for Thursday night at 8 o'clock in Taft hall.

"This is a matter," said Mr. Wimbish, "that demands immediate attention and should be taken seriously by every member of the chamber. It is imperative that every one who can possibly attend, be there and lend his support to the matter. The matter is of vital interest to every property owner in Atlanta. All should be there and help to decide the question of calling a state meeting to plan for the future of the road.

"The road is a big asset to the state, and is a potent factor in keeping the tax rate down. Should we be able to make an advantageous disposition of the property when the present lease expires an even lower rate may be the ultimate result.

"There is no intention of taking any radical action, but we simply want to decide if it is advisable to call a convention of the business and commercial interests of the state in order that suggestions for a solution of the problem may be offered. There are, of course, different views of the question as to what shall be done with the property, and speakers representing various views have been secured to present the matter as they see it.

"It is for this reason that I consider it imperative for all members of the chamber of commerce to be on hand, and I trust that the meeting will have a full attendance."

President Moore will preside at the meeting and the speakers chosen thus far are Governor Joseph M. Brown, W. A. Wimbish, Hooper Alexander, Chairman C. Murphy Candler, of the state railroad commission, and James H. Gray, editor of The Atlanta Journal.

WORKING FORCE OF HOTEL ANSLEY REACHES LIMIT

200 Persons Brought Here by Management—Work Nearly Completed

Nearly 200 persons, comprising the working force of the new Ansley hotel, have arrived in Atlanta to help swell the population. With very few exceptions the staff of workers is composed of strangers woh have come here to make this city their home.

Manager Letton and Assistant Manager Day are two of the busiest men in Atlanta, looking after the multitude of details that attend the opening of a hostelry. Work on the interior of the house is being rushed to completion, and before many more days pass it will be in readiness for the formal opening.

With but a few exceptions the rooms are furnished and ready for occupancy. The ball room, one of the handsomest in the south, lacks only the orchestra to make it ready for dancers. All three of the elevators are in operation and the kitchen is practically in readiness for the long line of ranges to be fired.

The rathskeller in the basement needs only its chairs and tables, and the same can be said of the main dining room and the private dining rooms. The mezzanine floor is ready for the final touches and the magnificent marble staircase from the office on the ground floor lack only the placing of a few of the heavy slabs.

The office is complete, as is the private branch telephone exchange connecting the outside world with every room. Only the lobby itself appears unfinished and it is the work here that will be completed last.

The formal opening will take place during the latter part of the month, the exact date yet to be announced.

FELONY CONVICTS ONLY CAN GET PAROLES NOW

Felder Answers Governor, Showing How Lesser Crimes Exact Rigid Service

Replying to a written request from Governor Brown for his opinion on three questions pertaining to the application of the state's parole law, Attorney General Thomas S. Felder Wednesday morning held:

First. That misdemeanor convicts are not entitled to parole under the law; that it applies expressly and solely to felony convicts.

Second. That "the fact that the convict was tried for a felony but given a misdemeanor punishment does not change the situation. The sentence fixes his status."

Third. That in cases where a person has been convicted of two felonies and sentenced concurrently, one sentence to be effective on the completion of the other, it is not necessary under the law that he shall serve one sentence in its entirety before the minimum portion of the other before he is eligible to a parole.

GOVERNOR'S QUESTIONS.

Following are the questions submitted by Governor Brown to the attorney general:

"1. Under the act of 1908, known as the parole law, can persons convicted of misdemeanors be paroled, or are the privileges of that law limited to convicts serving sentences for felonies?

"2. If misdemeanor convicts cannot be paroled under that act noted, may persons convicted of felonies and sentenced as for misdemeanors, be paroled; and if so, would the minimum penalty, as defined in that law, be the minimum for the felony of which they were convicted?

"3. Where a person has been convicted of two felonies and sentenced concurrently, one to be effective on the completion of the other, is it essential that he shall have served one sentence entire and the minimum penalty portion of the second before he is eligible for parole under the act of 1908, or may he be paroled after serving the minimum penalty for a single offense?"

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S REPLY.

"1. Misdemeanor convicts are not entitled to parole under the statute referred to.

"This statute by express terms applies only to felony convicts. It provides that 'the prison commission shall have full power to establish rules and regulations under which prisoners within the penitentiary may be allowed to go upon parole outside the confines of said penitentiary, etc.,' and that 'no parole or conditional pardon shall be granted unto any prisoner until he shall have served at least the minimum sentence fixed by law as punishment for the crime for which he has been convicted.'

"Misdemeanor convicts are not punished by confinement in the penitentiary (except in particular instances) nor does the law fix a minimum sentence as punishment for misdemeanors as it does in the case of felonies.

"2. The fact that the convict was tried for a felony, but given a misdemeanor punishment does not change the situation. The sentences fixes his status.

"3. There is nothing in the statute which makes it essential 'where a person has been convicted of two felonies and sentenced concurrently, one to be effective on completion of the other, that he shall have served one sentence entire and the minimum penalty portion of the second before he is eligible for parole.'

"If the crime for which the convict is at the time being punished puts him within the class of those subject to parole, then he can be paroled when he has served the minimum sentence fixed by law as a punishment for that particular crime. Of course, at the end of his parole he would be required to return to the penitentiary to serve his second sentence."

Dancing Master Dies

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 18.—John H. Trenor, who died on Monday at his home in New Rochelle at the age of eighty-eight, boasted that he had taught Theodore Roosevelt, William K. Vanderbilt, Chauncey M. Depew and James Gordon Bennett how to dance.

Trenor for many years taught members of New York society the art of dancing, and accumulated a large fortune. He claimed to have built the first flat house in New York at the corner of Sixth avenue and Forty-eighth street.

COL. J. F. PAXON TO BE CHIEF OF STAFF AGAIN

His Appointment by Governor Slaton Is Forecast—Has Been on Staff Nine Years

Colonel Frederick J. Paxon, of Atlanta, will be appointed chief of staff by Governor John M. Slaton. He has held the corresponding position under Governor Brown since January 25, 1912.

It is an unusual honor for the chief of staff of one governor to be selected for the same office by a succeeding governor, but that is what is in store for Colonel Paxon. Governor Slaton has made no announcement concerning the personnel of his staff, but it is accepted as a fact throughout the state that Colonel Paxon will be re-commissioned chief side-de-camp.

Colonel Paxon has served about nine years as a member of the governor's staff. He was first appointed by the late Governor Joseph M. Terrell and served through both his terms. At the beginning of Governor Brown's first term he was again appointed on the staff and has served through both of Governor Brown's terms, being appointed chief of staff with the full rank of colonel a little over a year ago.

TENNESSEE LEGISLATURE MEETS THURSDAY

(By Associated Press.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 18.—Confidence is expressed today in the presence of a quorum of the Tennessee legislature tomorrow for the first time since March 28, object being to enact legislation that will authorize the state funding board to borrow on short term notes money to meet the $11,000,000 of state debt, falling due this year, the first instalment July 1. There is a mass of proposed legislation on the calendars of the two houses, but its fate rests on members favorable to its passage being able to prolong the session.

ATLANTA EAGLES FINEST IN JACKSONVILLE PARADE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 18.—The Atlanta bunch of Eagles won first prize in the parade here for the best appearing contingent. The new Zouave uniforms of the Atlantians took all eyes and the vote was unanimous. The prize was $25.

Along in the winning of the prizes came Savannah with the "largest number of men in line," $75; Macon for the second largest number, and Atlanta for the best appearing team, $25. The prize for the most original costume went to George Rath, of Jacksonville.

Prizes for the section most original coquines were won by Misses Evelyn and Rayborn Stone, daughters of C. A. Stone, of Macon. The two paraded with their fine child in the regulation uniform of the central city's contingent. Besides the small prizes of $2.50, each of the Misses Stone were among the most popular young women of the Macon visitors.

DIES OF HEART FAILURE WHEN BOARDING TRAIN

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 18.—Passengers arriving last night from train No. 8 of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway told of the death from heart disease of Mrs. C. F. Sutton, which occurred a few minutes after she had boarded the train at Fosterville, Tenn.

Mrs. Sutton was the mother of the late Dr. J. Q. Sutton, of Chattanooga. Deceased was sixty-seven years old. She will be buried at Shelbyville this afternoon. Surviving her is one son, Dr. D. W. Sutton, and husband, C. F. Sutton, both of Huntland, Tenn.

Heat Is Quick to Affect the Bowels

Well-Known Fact That Extreme Heat Conduces to Chronic Constipation

So many people are in the habit of eating cold food in hot weather that constipation is very common during summer. It is best to vary the food and have some hot things, as, for example, soups and hot fish and meats, if that is to be the diet. Iced water should be drunk sparingly.

In spite of all care people will become constipated, and if you find yourself in that condition you can get immediate relief by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. There is no time of the year when you should be more careful of constipation than in the summer, for many of the serious illnesses as well as the fatalities result from a clogging up of the bowels. You also need general good health to withstand the heat, and hence Syrup Pepsin is best to take because it contains tonic ingredients that help to build up the entire system.

Numerous users throughout the land will verify these facts, among them Mr. George C. Allen, 408 N. Main St., Reading, Mass., who recovered his health completely after using only two bottles; and Miss Anna Schoff, 249 S. Washington St., Baltimore, Md., who uses it for constipation and now has her mother and friends also using it. They now avoid drastic remedies like cathartics, tablets, purgatives, salt waters, pills and such things. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is mild and pleasant, and children like it. You can obtain it of any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a large bottle. Each bottle must do what is claimed or your money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it, postpaid, by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 418 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

Suffered Twenty-One Years—Finally Found Relief

Having suffered for twenty-one years with a pain in my side, I finally have found relief in Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. The physicians called it "Mother's Pain" and injections of morphine were my only relief for short periods of time. I became so sick that I had to undergo a surgical operation in New Orleans, which benefited me for two years. When the same pain came back one day I was so sick that I gave up hopes of living. A friend advised me to try your Swamp-Root and I at once commenced using it. The first bottle did me so much good that I purchased two more bottles. I am now on my second bottle and am feeling like a new woman. It passed a gravel stone as large as a big red bean and several small ones. I have not had the least feeling of pain since taking your Swamp-Root and I feel it my duty to recommend this great medicine to all suffering humanity. Gratefully yours,

MRS. JOSEPH CONSTANCE.
Avoyelles Par. Marksville, La.

Personally appeared before me, this 15th day of July, 1911, Mrs. Joseph Constance, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

THE ATLANTA JOURNAL'S $7,000 BOOKLOVERS' CAMPAIGN.

The Plan and How You Can Enter

The Journal is publishing seventy-five pictures, each representing the title of one book.

Seven thousand dollars' worth of prizes will be given to those who can select the most correct titles.

The Answer Book gives you the right to ten answers, using only one of each picture. With the Answer Book The Journal will give you the first thirty-five prize pictures free.

The Answer Book will cost 80c at the office, 90c by mail. The Catalogue sells for 25c at the office, 27c by mail. Use the coupons in ordering. Extra pictures cost 2c each.

CUT ALONG THIS LINE.

Now is the Time to Enter the Great $7,000 Booklovers' Campaign.

One more prize picture will be published in this delightful Booklovers' Campaign and we will then have complete sets of pictures for every Journal reader who has not already entered the ranks of the great Booklovers' party. As we will give at least three weeks' time to get answers in shape and to get catalogues and Answer Books, you will have plenty of time to select the correct titles to our series of book pictures. Those who started with the first picture will have an advantage over you if you enter now. At the close of the date we will set for selling supplies, we will offer one Answer Book and one Catalogue complete to mail or bring in their sets of answers. One hour a day during that time is more than you will need. The Journal wants all of the readers to have their share of the $7,000 and hopes that you will come in or send in for a catalogue and set of pictures now and get busy. Remember, your chances to win are just as good as any other reader of The Journal and if you will go into the game feeling that way and will exercise all your rights to extra answers, there is no good reason why you should not win.

The first 35 pictures go free with our Answer Book. Get the Catalogue, Answer Book and complete set of pictures and cash in for $7,000 later on.

TWO-SCHOOL PICNIC WAS REAL AFFAIR OF SEASON

Games and Feasting at Grant Park Tuesday P. M. in Christian-Baptist Picnic

Baseball and marbles for the men folks, and bean-bag and rope-skipping for the women and girls, kept a couple of thousand scholars of the First Christian and Second Baptist Sunday schools busy at Grant park Tuesday afternoon during their joint picnic. They were celebrating the successful conclusion recently of their contest in enrollment and attendance.

Before the big picnic feast was served, just at twilight, other hundreds from the city's offices and stores and shops arrived at the park and joined their fellows in the last of the play and in all of the feasting.

No one knows how many good things were there to be eaten. No one knows how much of the feast there was. No single person, even by the most determined gorging, could have gained anything but an impression of the vastness and joy of that feast. It was served in the concrete pavilion of the park, upon long tables.

Dr. John E. White, playing right field for the Second Baptist nine, laid aside his pastoral dignity entirely for the afternoon and rolled up his sleeves and "batted 'em out" as vigorously as the best of them. Irresponsible observers started the rumor that Dr. White had been assigned to right field so that during at least half of the time the infield might swap compliments without being overheard; but that was not true at all, for the teams were picked among the young men's classes of the two Sunday schools, and, moreover, the banks around the diamond were people with hundreds of interested feminine as well as masculine fans. The teams were evenly matched, too, for they finished with the tight amateur score of 9 to 7 in favor of the First Christian team. Every player wore his own conception of a suitable "uniform," so that no two looked alike. Dr. White played in mohair trousers, suspenders, shirt sleeves and Panama hat.

The annual game of marbles between Judge John T. Pendleton, of the young men's class, and Dr. E. E. Connally, veteran among Atlanta's leading physicians, was played, with Justice Beverly D. Evans, of the state supreme court, as referee. The last previous game between these two champions of marble playing was contested at Mount Gilead camp ground last summer.

Dr. L. O. Bricker, pastor of the First Christian church, got into the games as a contestant in a potato race, but decided to join issue with his colleague, Dr. White, on the fiel dof baseball. John S. Spalding, superintendent of the Second Baptist cohorts, presided for a time over the refreshment tubs. C. V. LeCraw, superintendent of the First Christian multitude, arrived in plenty of time to see the finish of the games and be in at the outset stay on the feast. A. M. Beatty, one of the active workers in the First Christian organization; Colonel F. J. Paxon, of the Second Baptist; Thomas J. Day, of the Second Baptist, and all the other leaders in the recent big struggle, were there with the workers in the rear ranks, all having a high old time in a cool park on the hottest afternoon in two years. It was a day for a picnic; and the First Christian and the Second Baptist were the two schools in a humor to enjoy it together.

SHRINERS' BEACH STUNTS AT THE ISLE OF PALMS

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 18.—Fair weather this morning materially aided the program of Omar temple Shriners of this state, who planned a live set of beach stunts at the Isle of Palms for the "torture of meat." Several hundred Shriners are here. Boat jaunts to Fort Sumter this afternoon and a big dance at the Isle of Palms tonight, after the ceremonial session in the evening, are being looked forward to eagerly.

METHODISTS INDORSE CHIEF'S WAR ON VICE

Atlanta District Conference Passes Resolution Pledging Support to Chief

The annual conference of the Atlanta district of the Methodist church, in session at the Lakewood Heights church since Tuesday morning, adopted a resolution Tuesday afternoon indorsing the chief of police and the officers of his department for their war against vice and immorality, and pledged the support of the conference in that work.

The conference, composed of thirty charges, began the annual meeting Tuesday morning with an opening sermon by the Rev. C. O. Jones, pastor of Grace church. Dr. Jones made a stirring address.

Dr. W. P. Lovejoy, presiding elder, occupied the chair at the conference. Following the roll call of the one hundred and eighteen pastors and delegates the following questions were discussed:

"Do the achievements of the Atlanta district measure its duty and opportunity? W. B. Hendrix and B. F. Fraser conducted this discussion.

"What are the strong points in the church, and how may they be made stronger?" discussed by A. W. Quillian.

"The weak points in the church and how they may be overcome, discussed by Rev. C. O. Jones.

Rev. C. F. Weathers was elected secretary Tuesday morning and J. M. Skinner assistant secretary. A prison reform committee, composed of Rev. J. B. Robbins, C. W. Smith, L. W. Rivers, J. M. Skinner and H. Y. McCord, was appointed.

Reports on the Sunday schools by sixteen churches closed the morning session, after which a basket dinner was served by the ladies of the church.

The vice resolution was introduced at the afternoon session, and was passed unanimously. The resolution commends Chief Beavers and his department for "the suppression of vice and the promotion of morality," and pledges the prayers and earnest support of the Methodist churches in Atlanta.

On Wednesday morning, religious services were conducted by the Rev. E. K. Akin. He was followed by H. K. Chapman, who spoke on the Epworth league, insisting in his talk that every Methodist church in the city should organize one. Dr. W. M. Glenn and Rev. R. F. Eakes also spoke on this subject.

Dr. H. M. DuBose spoke on missions, discussing the position of the English speaking peoples among the nations of the earth; while Dr. A. M. Hughlett spoke on the peculiar obligation growing out of this fact to evangelize the world.

The needs of mission points in the district were discussed by the Rev. R. F. Eakes, who said that one-half of the people in the state of Georgia are not church members. His talk closed the morning session. The conference will end Wednesday afternoon.

"CONSTELLATION" TO BE REBUILT VERY SOON

NEWPORT, R. I., June 18.—The old Corvette Constellation, a relic of the war of 1812, which for years has served as a training ship at the Narragansett bay naval station, will be taken to the New York navy yard soon. Rear Admiral William Cameron, commandant of the station, has received orders to that effect from the navy department. It is planned to restore the Constellation to her original appearance as a war vessel.

INSPECTOR SUTTON GIVEN TRANSFER TO KANSAS CITY

His Place Here to Be Taken by R. E. Barry, Promoted

George M. Sutton, inspector in charge of the Atlanta division of the postoffice, has been transferred to the Kansas City division, where he will be in charge.

He has been succeeded in Atlanta by R. E. Barry, who has been promoted from an inspector's place to inspector in charge. Both changes are effective immediately.

Mr. Sutton's new division embraces the states of Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma. His salary will be the same.

Mr. Sutton has been in charge in Atlanta for the past six years, and while he is a native of Missouri, and the recent transfer will take him back home, still he has made a wide circle of friends here whom he regrets to leave. "I have never made better friends in any place than in Atlanta," he said Wednesday, "and it is with a great deal of regret that I shall have to leave them."

Mr. Sutton's successor in Atlanta, Mr. Barn, has been in the postoffice service for eighteen years. His appointment is a decided promotion.

ANSLEY PARK AUCTION TO BE HELD THURSDAY

Twenty-Five Lots on Boulevard and Flagler Avenue to Be Offered

On Thursday afternoon Edwin P. Ansley will offer at auction twenty-five lots in the Ansley Park annex. The sale will be started promptly at 3:30 o'clock.

The property will be offered on terms of 10 per cent down and $25 a month. The lots are of the regulation building size, and in a section where there has been a tremendous residence development.

Inquiries so far received point to a large attendance at the sale, for the auctions held so far this year met with success. Plats of the property to be offered Thursday afternoon may be had at the offices of the Realty Trust company.

JAPS TO HOLD A MASS MEETING SOON

(By Associated Press.)

TOKIO, June 18.—Posters calling a mass meeting for tomorrow and bearing the head line, "Give me liberty or give me death—Patrick Henry," were pasted today by agitators on walls in the vicinity of the United States embassy and at other points in the Japanese capital.

The organizers of the meeting declare that their object is to secure a more determined diplomatic attitude against the United Stats.

RECEIVER IS ORDERED FOR TRUST COMPANY

Case Against Guarantee Trust and Banking Company to Go to Supreme Court

Judge John T. Pendleton, of the superior court, announced at the close of the trial of the case of Matthew Delaney and others against the Guarantee Trust and Banking company Wednesday afternoon that he will appoint a receiver for the defendant company.

The case has been on trial for more than a week, and the suit for a receiver was vigorously contested by the company's attorneys. The Guarantee Trust and Banking company is capitalized at $500,000, but assets of approximately $1,000,000 were claimed. Attorneys for the complainants, however, alleged that the total assets of the company amounted to only about $500,000.

The complainants alleged that the concern was insolvent under the act of 1904, which requires financial institutions of the character of the company to hold a legal reserve of 75 per cent of the amount of money paid in on installment bonds. In this instance the amount would have been $761,000.

The first suit against the concern was filed early in March and it came up for trial about six weeks ago. The trial was delayed in order that an accountant could go through the company's books. When the accountant concluded his work the trial was resumed.

Besides Matthew DeLaney and two stockholders, who brought the original suit, there have been thirty or forty intervenors.

In rendering his opinion in the case Judge Pendleton held that there had been a breach of trust on the part of the company toward its stock and bondholders and also a violation of the state banking laws.

The attorneys engaged in the litigation will hold a conference during the afternoon when an effort will be made to agree o the terms of a supersedeas on which the case will probably be carried to the supreme court.

If an agreement is reached on this point by the attorneys, Judge Pendleton will probably not appoint a receiver until the case is passed upon the supreme court.

The attorneys in the case for the complainants were Smith & Hastings, Lamar Hill, Horsey, Brewster, Howell & Heyman. Charles T. & L. C. Hopkins, J. R. Bedgood and Hughes & Foster. The company was represented in the litigation by Tye, Peeples & Jordan, Rosser & Brandon and Napier, Wright & Wood.

$100,000 FIRE LOSS SUFFERED AT DOTHAN

Fire Razes Entire Business Block—Only $38,000 Insurance on All Buildings

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DOTHAN, Ala., June 18.—Fire which broke out in the Dothan Mule company establishment in the heart of the business section at 3 o'clock this morning, razed for three hours before it was under control entailing a damage of $100,000. About $38,000 was covered by insurance.

The fire destroyed a number of the leading business houses and for a while threatened the entire business section. The fire is generally believed to have been of incendiary origin.

Among the biggest firms suffering was the Henderson & Adams Dry Goods and Millinery company, which was damaged to the extend of $35,000. This firm carried $22,000 insurance.

The Dothan Mule company, in which the fire started was damaged to the extent of $15,000, with $5,000 insurance. The loss in the office of Dr. W. H. Williams, in the same building, is estimated at $2,500, with no insurance. The Dothan Undertaking company suffered a loss of $2,500 and the Malone Furniture company a $10,000 loss both carrying small amounts of insurance. The Malone Furniture company building, the property of Joe Baker, was damaged to the extent of $10,000, the loss being partially covered by insurance. The building and office of J. B. Wise, which was damaged to the extent of $8,000 carried $4,000 insurance. There was $15,000 damage to the stock and building of O. P. Green, on whose property there was $7,000 insurance.

COMMITTEE FAVORS STOVALL FOR PLACE

Senate Foreign Relations Committee Gives Favorable Report to Georgian

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 18.—The foreign relations committee this morning ordered a favorable report on the nomination of Pleasant A. Stovall, of Savannah, for minister plenipotentiary and envoy extraordinary to the republic of Switzerland. The nomination was sent to the senate only yesterday by President Wilson. The vote in the committee was unanimous.

Senator Bacon, the committee's chairman, called up the nomination, and, on the strength of his statement, the speedy confirmation was ordered. In the event of an executive session of the senate this afternoon, Senator Bacon will present the favorable report of the committee, and the confirmation of Mr. Stovall will follow.

DR. W. B. RILEY HERE FOR TABERNACLE MEETINGS

Dr. W. B. Riley, of Minneapolis, the pastor-evangelist, began a special ten-day series of meetings at the Baptist Tabernacle Tuesday evening. He arrived from Asheville, N. C., where he has been speaking twice daily in the Bible Conference.

Doctor Riley is not unknown in the south. He is a Kentuckian by birth and rearing, and a graduate of the Louisville seminary. He has held meetings in most of the southern cities and has been called back to them again and again. He was in Atlanta a little over a year ago, holding meetings in the First Baptist church. When Dr. Broughton left the Tabernacle, he was one of the speakers to deliver the farewell, and he had the unique experience of being in England and taking in the reception at the Christ church that welcomed Dr. Broughton as pastor there. His ministry in Spurgeon's Tabernacle lasted nearly a month. Dr. Riley remained to fill other engagements in England and Scotland, and has been invited back there to spend at least two months during the coming winter.

He and Dr. Broughton are close personal friends. His ministry in the Broughton Tabernacle at this time will include Bible teaching in the day time and evangelistic services at night. On Wednesday evening his theme will be "The Inner Circle." Thursday at 3:30 he begins a series of talks on the Book of Job.

CROP OUTLOOK'S FINE, SAYS COMMR. BROWN

Within the last month, crop conditions have shown a remarkable improvement, according to J. J. Brown, assistant commissioner of agriculture. Mr. Brown is especially optimistic concerning the corn crop, which he says is the finest he ever has seen. He has just returned from a trip through south Georgia and expresses himself on crop conditions as follows:

"The corn acreage is as large, or larger than in previous years, and I have seen no place where the crop has suffered from loss of rain. Our corn output will be above the average, but I don't see how the state of Georgia can produce a full cotton crop.

"Throughout the state every one seems to be cheerful, and sanguine and conditions look far better than they did last month when on our trip through the state we noticed considerable suffering because of insufficient rain."

FIRE DESTROYS TWO BELLWOOD RESIDENCES

A fire which started shortly after 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon practically destroyed two residences in Bellwood on Wheeler street.

It is believed that the flames started in the home of Charles G. Harris, at 137 Wheeler street, where there was a fire in the kitchen stove. The blaze spread to the house next door, 139 Wheeler street, owned by Walter H. Baker.

The Harris home was completely gutted before the fire could be extinguished, while the home of Mr. Baker was badly damaged.

DRAMA LEAGUE WANTS TO GET NEW MEMBERS

Letters to the members of Atlanta Center, Drama League of America, have been sent out by Secretary Dudley Cowles, urging them to keep up an interest in the league's work during the summer so as to be prepared for a successful season next fall and to get new members.

The purpose of the league is to serve the community by instilling an interest for drama study into the children of Atlanta. Several special plays by children will be given in the near future by the local members of the league.

Doctors Endorse Nuxcara for the Stomach

Dr. H. G. Standard, prescriptionist with Edmondson Drug Co., says we are having an enormous sale on Nuxcara at their two stores, No. 11 N. Broad St., and 106 N. Pryor St. He says: "I have taken it myself, and unhesitatingly recommend it as a certain and positive cure for indigestion, dyspepsia and catarrh; that I have been recommending and selling it for nearly four years. Come to see me, and let me tell you about this wonderful Nuxcara treatment.

"H. G. STANDARD."

For the convenience of the hundreds of people who have wished to talk to Mr. Ewing about Nuxcara, the wonderful stomach remedy. We wish to give his correct address, as we have been informed that he is not now with the Associated Press, but lives at 156 Simpson St., this city.

Mr. Joe Ewing, Atlanta, Ga., says: "I suffered tortures for fifteen years with dyspepsia. Instead of anticipating my meals with pleasure, they were a source of dread. Knowing that intense suffering would follow taking food, and the distress of absorbing toxins from undigested food, I tried one physician after another. I was treated by specialists in New York City, with only temporary relief, and now that I have regained my health and can eat anything I want with the greatest relish and satisfaction, and my work is a pleasure, I look upon the years of suffering which I went through as wasted. I cannot say too much in praise of the remedy that cured me, and will certainly cure anyone suffering from this terrible disease. I recommend everyone to take Nuxcara, the only certain cure known."

THEATERS

Criticisms of local performances at the real theaters are written by members of the journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.

FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
BIJOU—Vaudeville and Pictures.

The bill of Keith vaudeville at the Forsyth this week is clever—the sort of show that always crowds that theater. There is a little of everything in the program that will make people happy and make them forget weather, business and trouble.

Bud Fisher is making sketches of "Mutt and Jeff." One of the big hits of the bill is Pauline Welch. Miss Welch is a charming little comedienne. She is going to be one of the big stars of modern vaudeville, because she is pretty, talented, and has a wardrobe that will be the envy of the profession.

Karl Emmy and his pets present an act that is all interesting, and the Three Leightons do a singing and dancing act that is one of the nice hits of the bill. The lawn party, with a combination of clever boys and girls, present impersonations of famous people of the stage and win applause.

The Forsyth is delightfully popular and with bills like that of the present week, will continue to advance its claim as "Atlanta's busiest theater."

There has been nothing more wonderful than "Quo Vadis" shown on stage or screen. There has been nothing seen in a local theater since the first appearance of "Ben Hur" that has created the sensation produced by the tremendous photo-play now on at the Grand. On the hottest night that Atlanta had known in two years, Tuesday, the big Grand theater was filled with people who were interested every second of the two and a quarter hours of entertainment.

There will be daily matinee and night performances during the rest of the week. The Grand box office will open daily at 9 a. m. and reservations can be made in advance.

There has not been one adverse criticism of the picture. There have been the most profound and enthusiastic indorsements, and thousands already have witnessed the four exhibitions.

Every detail of the famous novel is being reproduced. There is some wonderful photography. There are sensations after sensation, and every inch of the 10,000 feet of film brings new interest.

The scenes in the arena at the circus of Nero could never have been produced on a stage. But in pictures the sensations are wonderful. The Grand will not be large enough to accommodate the crowds that are going to insist on seeing "Quo Vadis." The daily matinee and night performances during the rest of the week will attract capacity seating gatherings. The big theater is being cooled with fans and a good ventilating system, and three intermissions of eight minutes each give a rest that makes the picture all the more entertaining.

"The Duke of Durham," with Lou Shean and his company of comedians, dancers and pretty girls, is scoring a well earned hit this week at the popular Bijou theater. Splendid audiences have witnessed the performances so far. Lou Shean is a clever comedian, and his parodies and songs are enjoyable features of the performance. Several good vaudeville numbers are introduced during the intermission between the first and second acts, and the musical numbers in which the chorus takes part are fetching and demand several encores.

Musical tabloid of the kind that is being offered these days at the Bijou is meeting with the favor of patrons of the house, and new faces are to be seen nightly enjoying the performances.

The management has installed in the balcony of the Bijou an ozone machine which furnishes fresh, clean air at all times. It is expected to be of great benefit to patrons of the house.

WESLEY MEMORIAL TO USE MOTION PICTURES

Popular and Recreational Program for Mid-Week Prayer Services

The popular mid-week prayer services inaugurated by Rev. W. R. Hendrix, pastor of Wesley Memorial church, will begin Wednesday evening with an address by Mr. Hendrix on "The Significance of the Wednesday Half-Holiday."

Preceding the address will be an interesting motion picture film, and specil music will be rendered. Motion pictures will be used every Wednesday evening, and the pastor will follow them with a brief address on some timely topic.

The purpose of the pastor is to make the services popular and recreational. Motion pictures for the mid-week services have found favor with the greatest institutional churches in the world, being indorsed even by so pronounced a conservative as Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, of London.

OUR LOVE FOR CORN PONE DUE TO SUPERIOR CORN

Governor Brown Explains the Southern Taste by Southern-Grown Maize

That Georgia is in the center of the real corn belt of America, and that the boys' corn club movement is the greatest influence that ever has been put under way for agricultural progress in this state, is declared by Governor Joseph M. Brown in a telephone interview from Athens.

"We not only make more corn to the acre, but we make better corn than they do in the north and middle west," continued Governor Brown. "I have been convinced for many years that the reason why southern folks like corn bread, while our Yankee friends do not, is because southern corn makes better bread than that which is grown in the north. We can beat them both in quality and quantity.

"Iowa and the great middle western corn states have never produced 200 bushels to the acre. Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama all have produced 200 bushels to the acre and more. I agree with the suggestion that we ought to double the work of the corn club. It is a movement that all Georgia people should support actively, and I expect to see a material increase in the membership this year. I am delighted to see that Mr. Cooper and the corn show committee of the chamber of comerce have begun work six months in advance to make the 1913 show the greatest in Georgia's history."

PRISON REFORM SUNDAY SUGGESTED BY PREACHERS

Statewide Movement Being Furthered to Set Aside July 6 for This Topic

A statewide movement has been put under way to have all the ministers of Georgia set aside July 6 as prison reform Sunday, and preach on that day on the treatment of Georgia's specific prison problems from the Christian point of view. The movement was originated in Atlanta by a resolution passed by the Evangelical Ministers' association. Following that action, the Baptists, Methodists and other denominational conferences have indorsed the plan, while Episcopal, Congregational, Presbyterian, Lutheran and other churches have agreed to participate.

The following Atlanta ministers have been appointed a special local and state committee to arouse interest in the movement in every Georgia community:

Rev. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist church; Rev. C. B. Willmer, pastor of St. Luke's church; Rev. Dunbar Ogden, of the Central Presbyterian church; Rev. W. C. Schaeffer, of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer; Rev. W. P. Lovejoy, presiding elder of the Methodist church; Rev. G. L. Hanscomb, of the Central Congregational church.

It is planned to have every minister in the state of Georgia preach on this subject at the Sunday morning services on July 6. The call is set out through the press. The ministers who have put this movement under way take the view that patriotism is civic righteousness in action. They propose to raise the definite question of whether Georgia's present prison system is in accord with civic righteousness. Their purpose is to indorse the appointment of a commission to look into the whole penal and criminal court reform question at the approaching session of the legislature.

MORE BURGLARS BUSY; SOME LOOT RECOVERED

Forcing open a side window, burglars entered the store of J. C. Fowler, Cascade avenue and Gordon street, West End, some time Tuesday night or Wednesday morning, and stole $20 from the cash register. Groceries to the value of several dollars also were taken.

Several pieces of valuable jewelry stolen from the home of Mrs. L. C. Hazel, 117 Holderness street, West End, have been recovered by detectives in different pawn shops. The house was entered during the absence of the family, Monday, and a watch, several rings, a string of gold beads, a bracelet and a cameo pin, valued at nearly $300 were stolen. Entrance was gained by tearing the screen from a side window.

ROME FIRE DEPARTMENT INSPECTED BY COUNCIL

ROME, Ga., June 18.—The city council last night inspected the Rome fire department and found everything in good condition. The city officials gathered at the fire hall and were shown through the building and familiarized with the alarm system and other features of the work. They were then carried out on one of the trucks and given a demonstration of how the firemen safeguard the property in the city.

The department has recently added two automobile chemical trucks to the equipment, and the council contemplates the purchase of an automobile engine.

No More Bleeding Corns.

No more knives, no more scissors, no more razors, no more blood poisoning. Away with the instruments of barbarous butchery. Jacobs' Magic Corn Liquid will take out any corn, hard or soft, whole, and positively without pain or danger. Never pare or cut a corn, for if the blade slips, as it frequently does, and the corn bleeds, there is serious danger of blood poisoning, and many deaths have been caused in this way.

The first application of Jacobs' Magic Corn Liquid gives instant relief from pain, and if a soft corn of new growth, will remove it. Hard, deep, stubborn corns require several applications, but are just as completely removed, root and all, and there is no possibility of danger, nor pain. Tampering with a corn causes irritation and makes it harder to remove. Use Jacobs' Magic Corn Liquid we guarantee it to be successful and painless. 20c, by mail 22c.—(Advt.)

pointment of a small board of seven persons to govern the medical school, which shall be chosen absolutely without reference to denominational considerations and purely upon the ground of fitness for their duties.

There is, however, one factor in your university situation which leaves the policy for the future in doubt. A suit is now before the courts to test the question whether the university shall be governed by an independent self-perpetuating board as at present, or whether the trustees shall be chosen by the representatives of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, with which denomination the university has been since its beginning in sympathetic relations. Should the trustes finally receive an adverse verdict, I understand that the university will then be under distinctive denominational control. This result would seem to be unfortunate for the future progress and well-being of the institution. I do not believe that it is wise for any sect to control educational institutions such as universities, whether the organization be a Methodist conference, or a Presbyterian assembly, or a Catholic order.

For this reason, therefore, while I am anxious to make this gift, which would be of high value to the whole south, I hesitate to do so until the question of denominational control has been settled by the court of last resort, its final disposition to be then determined. Should this proposition be satisfactory to your board of trustees, I understand that the conditions agreed to in your letter of May 1, as to the size and constitution of the governing board of the medical school and the character of the school itself are also conditions of this gift.

The objection to denominational control of colleges and universities is not due to lack of sympathy with religion. It lies in the fact that such control by a single denomination rarely means religious development, but nearly always means that both education and religion are subordinated to the interests of the particular organization which is in control. I welcome, rather, all Christian sects, believing with Matthew Arnold, whom I am proud to recall as my friend:

Forever doth accompany mankind,
Hath looked on no religion scornfully
That man did ever find.

"Which has not taught weak wills how much they can?
Which has not fallen on the dry heart like rain?
Which has not cried to a sunk, self-weary man,
Thou must be born again!"

As a true friend of the south,
Sincerely yours,
(Signed) ANDREW CARNEGIE.

EFFORT TO DISMEMBER.

"Now the dullest mind can see that Mr. Carnegie does not propose to give a penny to the Vanderbilt university, but to take something from it, to dismember from it one of its departments, which is worth about $500,000.

"By the same process he may proceed to alienate all the other departments and put them under his little boards. It is stranze that more of the members of the board of trust did not perceive this patent fact, and protest against the acceptance of his offer. It would be just as appropriate for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to accept for its uses the gate receipts of a bull fight as for this gift to be accepted by a Christian institution.

"It appears also that the Episcopalians see in this affair an effort to defeat the proposed medical department of the University of the South. If they are correct in their opinion, Mr. Carnegie is proposing at one blow to destroy the medical school of the Episcopalians, and denature the medical school of the Methodists, and raise on the ruins of both a Carnegiefied establishment in his own image and likeness.

"AN IMPUDENT PROPOSAL."

"I cannot doubt that this impudent proposal of the aggressive and agnostic steel-monger will provoke the indignation of the Christian people of all denominations in the country, and incur the emphatic disapproval of all thinking men. This undisguised attempt to disintegrate a Christian university is in keeping with the well fixed purpose of antagonism to church schools which Mr. Carnegie has pursued for a long time.

To the question what will the bishops of the Methodist church do in the case? Bishop Candler replied:

"The bishops are common-law visitors to the university, and citation of the trustees to a meeting of the visitors at the Bishops' room in Nashville next Friday has been issued. I have no right to anticipate their decision, and I have a little doubt about what it will be. The attempt to make it appear by a telegram sent from Nashville that Bishop Hoss only is concerning himself about the matter is as unjust to his colleagues as it is unfair to him. Bishop Hoss has done his duty, and he has had opportunities beyond most of the other bishops for rendering good service to the church in the case. But the attempt to make it appear that he is standing alone is utterly without foundation in fact. This effort to isolate Bishop Hoss from his colleagues before the public eye is utterly and unworthy. It lacks even the virtue of Carnegie's candour."

Board's Right to Accept Gift Is Questioned

(By Associated Press.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 18.—Bishop E. E. Hoss, of the college of bishops of the Southern Methodist church, to take action on the proffered gift of four millions of the Vanderbilt university board of trust relative to accepting Andrew Carnegie's gift to the medical department of $1,000,000, today published the protest.

The four trustees question the board's right to accept the conditions attached; question the fairness of the proposition toward Carnegie, with suit pending contesting the rights of the board of trust, and allege that this is in fact giving away a department of the university. Bishop Hoss, in a statement, specifies two serious objections:

First. The university does not get a dollar but gives away its medical department to a new governing board without restrictions.

Second. Mr. Carnegie makes no promise to add the $800,000 as endowment unless the trustees succeed in eliminating the church.

headquarters only a small portion had been read into the record when the committee adjourned last night.

Seventy-odd copies introduced referred to a widespread campaign headed by Clarence C. Hamlin, of Colorado Springs, to gain publicity for the beet sugar arguments through newspapers, news agencies and with the assistance of great railroads and agricultural colleges.

Senators declared the newest turn of the investigation was the most sensational development yet.

Many men of national prominence, mentioned in the correspondence, undoubtedly will be summoned to testify, and, from a plain investigation of the interest of the senators themselves in the tariff bill, the inquiry now promises to broaden out into an inquiry into all the influences which are alleged to have been brought forward against legislation in recent years.

The committee was confronted with a formal objection from Henry T. Oxnard, of the Beet Sugar company, and Truman G. Palmer, head of the Washington office of the sugar interests, against reading any more correspondence addressed to or from them and dated prior to the beginning of the present session of congress.

John W. Yerkes, an attorney, who said he represented with two sugar men, broke into the proceedings when a letter from Oxnard to Palmer dated in 1908 was read.

Yerkes contended the committee was limited to investigate matters affecting legislation before the present congress. The committee took the objection under consideration and temporarily laid aside a number of letters.

The letter which brought intervention said, in part:

"I have a letter from Mr. Morey in which he says that Mr. Gove will go around trying to educate congressmen with Gove's lease. Mr. Gove says statistics he may desire."

Harry Austin, clerk in the offices of Mr. Palmer identified the letter as being in Oxnard's handwriting. Morey was president of the Great Western Sugar company.

DEMANDS CONTRACT FOR THE NEW CREMATORY

Council Tried to Get Around Necessity of His Executing Such a Document

Mayor Woodward declares that council must pass a regular contract with the Destructor company for the new crematory, or else he will not sign checks in payment of money to the company.

The city charter provides that contracts must be executed by the mayor. That is, his signature is necessary to make it binding upon the city.

Fearing that the mayor, if a regular contract were passed, would refuse to execute it, council members decided to make a contract by a somewhat different method. Accordingly, the company was asked to submit a contract in the form of a proposal, which it did and council passed a resolution accepting the proposal. City Attorney Mayson held that this was the equivalent of passing a regular contract.

The difference is this: If the mayor had refused to execute a contract, council couldn't have made him. But if the mayor vetoes the resolution accepting the company's proposal, council can pass the resolution over his veto.

The mayor is not pleased with these tactics. He claims he had consented in advance to the substantial provisions of a contract, and that council, therefore, should have passed a contract and he would have executed it. He claims there was no reason for council to doubt that he would execute the contract.

And these tactics will avail council nothing, the mayor says, because he can still refuse to sign checks and thereby hold the company out of its money.

Hence, council probably will be compelled to proceed according to the mayor's wishes.

FUNERAL OF W. W. MARTIN HELD AT DECHERD, TENN.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DECHERD, Tenn., June 18.—The funeral of Mr. W. W. WILL REUBEN R. ARNOLD AID FRANK'S DEFENSE?

superior court will be in session on that date.

It is said that there is sufficient business of a routine nature pending before the court to occupy it not only during the week of June 23, but through the week of June 30 as well. It is known, however, although there has been no definite announcement, that it is the intention of Solicitor General Dorsey to bring the case against Leo M. Frank to trial on June 30, if possible. Attorney Frank A. Hooper, who will assist Mr. Dorsey in the case, has declared that the state is ready to go to trial at once, and he intimates that efforts to push the trial will be made.

WILL DEFENSE BE READY?

As a result of the attitude of the state's officials, speculation over the case turns to the defense. Will Attorney Luther Z. Rosser announce ready, if the case is called Monday week?

Mr. Rosser will not discuss the matter. It is known that he has been engaged in the courts in trial of various civil cases practically since the time of *Frank's indictment, and for that rea*son it is said that he probably would want a postponement of the case.

However, it is known also that regardless of the amount of work he has on hand, Mr. Rosser seldom asks for the postponement of a trial. In fact, he is more often found announcing "ready" than are the majority of other attorneys in Atlanta.

POSTPONEMENT TILL FALL.

If an effort is made to postpone the case at all, it is said that it will be to postpone it until early fall.

The courts generally take a vacation during the months of July and August, and the trial of Mrs. Daisy Grace last July demonstrated the general unpleasantness of a big criminal trial during the summer.

Last year during the Grace trial it was so stifling and hot in the poorly ventilated criminal court room on the fourth floor of the Thrower building, that it was generally considered dangerous to the health of those engaged in the case and of the spectators who thronged there, to hold the trial in the room.

As a result it is probable that the scene of activity will probably be transferred to the old city hall, if the Frank case does come to trial in June. All of the civil courts will not be in session in the first week in July, and one of those rooms probably will be utilized.

DISCOVERY OF A RECIPE BRINGS A FORTUNE

A recipe made by a singer who had suffered for years with severe indigestion, and with the help of a well-to-do French doctor, who had told him of a vegetable with marvelous digestive properties, this vegetable was used in a sauce which the singer added to his food and in the cooking. Carloads of Waw-Waw have now been sent to different parts of the world, and in every place it has had phenomenal success. The best cooks in Europe pronounced the sauce unexcelled. It adds zest and piquancy when used in the cooking with soups, salads, hot and cold meats and fish. Waw-Waw (an obsolete South American Indian word for vegetable) is purely vegetable. A 25 cent bottle will convince you how much you will enjoy your food by adding Waw-Waw and how easily you will digest your food.

For Your Health's Sake Drink HAMPTON SPRINGS SULPHUR AND MINERAL WATER

While this water is known as a Sulphur Water, sulphur is only one of its valuable minerals. When accustomed to its use it is a most pleasant and palatable water to drink, and quenches thirst most satisfactorily. But its greatest value is its medicinal qualities, which make the system immune from germ diseases and cures rheumatism, indigestion, stomach, kidney, bladder and skin diseases. It makes you well, and keeps you well by its use. It is recommended by many of the best physicians in the country. So far as known it is the only water containing such a large proportion of sulphur that will retain its full strength for years, in air-tight containers.

Hampton Springs Sulphur and Mineral Water.

So satisfied are the owners of Hampton Springs of the great curative value to be secured by its use that they guarantee any user of one package or barrel, containing 120 pints of this wonderful water, when taken according to instructions, will either improve or cure the complaints for which it is recommended, and failing to do so, on re*turn of the empty package to the Springs*, the money paid for the water will be refunded.

This water is now distributed in a wholesale way by Jacobs' Pharmacy in Atlanta, who supply the retail druggists, hotels, restaurants, cafes and consumers in full packages, 120 pint bottles, $7.00 per package. Twelve half-gallon bottles in crate in Atlanta. It is retailed at their own stores and other places above named at 10 cents per bottle.

"STAY-AT-HOMES" TO ENTERTAIN OLD GUARD

Trip to East Will Be Topic of Evening at Reception and Dinner Saturday

The members of Atlanta's Old Guard who did not go on the recent trip to Washington and the cities of the east will entertain those members who did go at an informal reception and dinner next Saturday evening in Cafe Durapd.

The affair will be a general jollification, in which the "stay-at-homes" will rub shoulders with the "go-aways" once again and receive an account of the tour in all its phases. Invitations have been issued and an enjoyable evening is promised.

As the invitations express it, "right smart victuals will be provided." The dinner will start at 7 o'clock and will not end until all those who have anything to say have said it, and as both "stay-at-homes" and "go-aways" declare that they have a large stock of anecdotes to spring, the closing hour likely will be late.

Colonel George M. Napier will act as toastmaster. Governor Brown, Governor-elect Slaton, the officers of brigade headquarters in Atlanta, and others have been invited. No formal program has been arranged. The guests are expected to wear only their fatigue uniforms and caps, without side arms.

OLD COUNTRY SOCIETY TO BE ORGANIZED NEXT WEEK

To preserve the legends and the spirit of the Dixie of "befo' de war," a number of Atlantians will band themselves into a society next week to be known as the Old Country society. Two requirements there are: members must be products of the south not later than reconstruction days, and the exact age of all applicants must be known.

C. H. Burge, of Atlanta, is the leading organizer. Mr. Burge says that the object of the society is to revivify the old days of ante-bellum, to gather together all the ex-slaves that still are living, and hear them tell stories of the old times, and later to compile these tales into a book.

ANNUAL PICNIC AT THE BURNS COTTAGE JULY 4

The Atlanta Scottish association will hold its second annual picnic on July 4 at the cottage of the Burns club, said to be the only one of its kind in America.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon the picnic will begin, not to end until dark. Games of Scotland will be the order of the afternoon, with a big feast at the close. The heads of families are expected to bring well-stocked baskets.

CITY MARSHAL WANTED TO GET IN "MOVIES"

City Clerk Sent Him Back Into the Tall Uncut to Meet the Film Company

"I'll like to see them at work," he remarked to his friend, City Clerk Walter Taylor.

"All right, Jim, I'll see if I can't arrange it for you," was the city clerk's obliging reply. "You know they try to get away from spectators, but I know some of the men in charge of the company and I think I can fix it."

The next day Clerk Taylor informed Marshal Fuller that he had fixed it.

"It just happens that they need a man to play the part of a rich old farmer," said Mr. Taylor, "and from my description of you, they've decided you would fit the part exactly. It's a cinch to play. All you've got to do is to drive up in an old-fashioned carriage and go through the motion of buying a farm. They'll furnish you the costume."

Then Clerk Taylor proceeded to give Marshal Fuller the necessary directions. He was to take the "River" car leaving town at 11:45 a. m., get off at Bolton, and the company would have an automobile there to meet him and take him to the scene, four miles away. After going through the picture there would be a picnic dinner at a spring near the old house where the picture was being made.

Marshal Fuller was delighteed.

"If the automobile isn't there when you get off the car," said Mr. Taylor, "just walk up the road and you'll meet it."

From the window of his office in city hall, Mr. Taylor watched Marshal Fuller board the "River" car at the Grady monument.

It was nearly 5 o'clock that afternoon when he saw the city marshal again.

Mr. Taylor was standing on the front "stoop" of city hall. Marshal Fuller came trudging up with his coat on his arm, his shirt wet with perspiration, his collar limp, his shoes caked in dust. He was sore-footed and hollow-eyed.

"Hello, Jim, how'd you like it?" asked Mr. Taylor as the wayworn traveler mounted the steps.

Marshal Fuller turned his back.

"Don't speak to me," he said. "I don't want to look at you. If I look at you I can't keep from hitting you."

The motion picture company, on the day before Marshal Fuller's trip to Bolton, had left Atlanta for a trip to Talulah Falls, where they are now making some pictures.

For the benefit of those who do not know Clerk Taylor's facility for playing jokes, it should be explained that he knew they were gone.

MAN SLAIN BY HIS OWN SON-IN-LAW

By Associated Press.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 18.—James Williams was shot and instantly killed this morning by his son-in-law, Robert Martin, a barber. The tragedy occurred at Martin's home and is reputed to have resulted from domestic troubles. Martin was arrested and jailed.

PHILADELPHIA MINISTER EXPLAINS HIS REMARKS

Declares He Was Not Accosted, but That Friends of His Were

The Rev. S. Zane Batten, of Philadelphia, secretary of the American Baptist Publication society, who was quoted in a local paper recently as having said in an address that he was approached by nineteen lewd women on an Atlanta street in one night, declared that he had made no such remarks in a letter to Chief of Police Beavers. The communication was received here Wednesday morning.

The Rev. Mr. Batten said that his statements had been misconstrued. He was reported as having said that he was accosted by nineteen women, and a brother minister, who walked down the opposite side of the street, by twenty-one.

In his letter Dr. Batten said that he had told of the experiences of two other ministers, as recounted to him in his Philadelphia address.

"Two ministers of high standing in religious work told me that they had been approached frequently by women," wrote the pastor. "One said thirteen women had spoken to him and the other nineteen. All I know about it is what they said and I told of their experiences, as chronicled by themselves, not mine.

While Dr. Batten says he has been misquoted regarding this question, he takes an opportunity to condemn the locker clubs operated in Atlanta.

"In company with friends I visited one of the clubs in your city," he wrote. "I found some fifty men in the different rooms of the club drinking liquor. I saw boys not more than twenty years of age reeling to intoxication. I also saw girls and women, probably twenty-five, some not more than sixteen, drinking with the men.

"I did not say that I had talked with some of the women. I did not say that San Francisco in its worst days was no worse than the Georgia town."

Dr. Batten's letter was an answer to one sent by Chief Beavers following the publication of the minister's alleged remarks here. A clipping was enclosed.

"The item, as it appears in your paper, is a gross misstatement of the things which I said," he wrote.

Steel Works Burn

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 18.—Fire last night completely destroyed the plant of the Southern Steel and Iron works, entailing a loss of between $75,000 and $80,000, with about $35,000 insurance. There were seven buildings in all destroyed, together with two locomotives and a quantity of valuable machinery. The fire being outside the fire limits, little or no assistance could be rendered by the fire department.

SOUTHERN RY. HEAD ANSWERS HIS CRITICS

W. W. Finley Says He Has No Personal Interest in Timber Lands

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 18.—The name of President W. W. Finley, of the Southern railway, having been used on the floor of the house in connection with attacks on conservation in the west, Representative Austin wrote President Finley calling his attention to the speech of Mr. Humphrey, and received an answer which has been placed in the Congressional Record.

The Southern railway president says he has absolutely no personal interest in timber lands anywhere, and the only interest of the Southern railway in the matter is the adoption by forest owners of the southeast of such forestry practice as may tend to advance the general prosperity of the territory along the company's lines.

MRS. KAMPER'S FUNERAL THURSDAY AFTERNOON

The funeral of Mrs. Florence E. Kamper, wife of Mr. Charles J. Kemper, who died Tuesday morning at a private sanitarium, will occur at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon from the Church of the Incarnation, in West End. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Mrs. Kamper had been seriously ill for only a little over a week, and her death came as a great shock to her many friends. She had lived in Atlanta for over thirty years.

The following will act as pallbearers: Messrs. Robert Sharpe, C. E. Pollard, C. R. Snyder, Thomas Peters, E. H. Fraser, O. F. Kauffman, W. E. Mansfield, S. L. Rhorer.

CARPENTER SAYS CLERK LOOTED HIM WHEN DRUNK

J. W. Burke, aged twenty-four, of 42 1-2 Decatur street, who gives his occupation as that of clerk, was arrested on a charge of stealing a check and $10 in cash from George Wimingham, a carpenter, of Conyers, Ga., Wednesday morning. The latter alleges that the clerk rifled his pocket while he was intoxicated. Wilmingham also was taken into custody on a charge of being drunk. The check which Wilmingham claims, and several dollars also, were found in the possession of Burke.

GIRL INJURED BY AUTO; DRIVER TO FACE COURT

Eugenia Green, Aged Twelve, Knocked Down and Hurt by M. M. Simmon's Car

Eugenia Green, twelve-year-old daughter of Mrs. Lua Belle Green, 152 Barnett street, is seriously injured Wednesday, and M. M. Simmons, district superintendent of the Southern Bell Telephone company, is facing a charge of speeding, in recorder's court, as a result of an automobile accident on Ponce de Leon avenue Tuesday night.

The child was knocked down by Simmons' machine at the corner of Ponce de Leon avenue and Barnett street Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. She suffered a broken leg and bruises and lacerations about the body and hands. Simmons made bond of $200 on a charge of reckless driving lodged against him by Call Officer Wood.

The little girl was attempting to cross Ponce de Leon avenue at the intersection of Barnett street, when she was hit by the machine.

She was rushed to her home near by in the automobile and later was conveyed to St. Joseph's infirmary.

Simmons drove to police headquarters, where he was required to make bond for his appearance to answer charges. In the machine with him were John L. Brown, 1010 Peachtree street; R. E. Robinson, 293 Lee street, and J. H. Brewer, 1010 Peachtree street. They said they were returning from a fishing trip near Decatur when the accident occurred.

Heirlooms Stolen

The jewelry stolen from the home of Mrs. L. C. Hazel, 117 Holderness street, the other night, was possessed of no great monetary value, she says, but was prized highly by her as many of the articles were family heirlooms.

PICNIC "SPECIAL" WILL CARRY SUNDAY SCHOOL

All the members of the Central Presbyterian Sunday school are looking forward to the big picnic which will be given at Powder Springs this Thursday. A special train will carry the happy crowd, which will include the families of the pupils. A baggage car will be attached to the train just to carry the tons of ice and bushels of lemons for the ice cool drinks and the bulging picnic baskets which every family is expected to provide.

This train will leave the Terminal station at 8:30 o'clock, the trip taking a little over an hour. The train will return the same afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, and should reach Atlanta by 6 o'clock, allowing for delays of any kind. Tickets will be furnished to all scholars in the primary, kindergarten and intermediate departments. The adults will pay the nominal price of 25 cents for their round-trip tickets.

You Can't Be Well When Constipated

"Keep Your Bowels Open"—Doctors Estimate 75 Per Cent. of Sickness Due to Torpid Liver.

Some undigested food is left in the stomach daily, which the liver should clear away. A heavy or unusual diet, or a change in water, may cause the liver to leave a few particles to press and clog, and the next day more are left over. So this waste accumulates, clogging stomach and intestines, and causing constipation.

That is no ailment. If the waste is not eliminated it ferments and generates uric acid, a poison which gets into the blood and through the system.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT immediately flushes the stomach and intestinal tract and corrects every particle of waste and fermentation; it purifies the blood by dissolving what uric acid has accumulated and passing it off in the urine.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT is much better than calomel; no danger of salivation, no need of an after-cleaning dose of oil. It acts quickly and mildly; never forces, gripes or nauseates. It effervesces agreeably. Take it before breakfast and in an hour you'll feel splendid.

Don't take an inferior substitute; some closely imitate the name, but none produces the same result. All druggists should have the genuine JACOBS' LIVER SALT. 25c. If they yours cannot supply you, full size jar mailed upon receipt of price, postage free. Made and guaranteed by Jacobs' Pharmacy Co., Atlanta.—(Advt.)

Diabetes No Longer Feared

S. S. S. Quickly Produces Vim and Energy Into You.

There is no need to feel any alarm over the symptoms of diabetes. This disease is apt to be purely a digestive trouble, and for this reason the liver is held largely responsible. The liver is the last organ of the body, and is not only a mass of thread-like blood vessels, but throughout its entire fabric is intimately associated with the digestive system.

The thing to do is to so stimulate the action of this myriad of blood vessels that each cellular part selects its own essential nutriment by healthy and judicious divine discretion. This is accomplished by S. S. S., the most potent, the most active and the most naturally stimulating blood medicine known. You do not need purgatives; do not be alarmed at the presence of sugar nor of so-called sediment.

Just stick to S. S. S. and bear in mind that this celebrated remedy has such a specific stimulating action on the local cells of the body as to preserve their mutual welfare and give a proper relative assistance, each cell to the other.

Dropsical tendencies are thus overcome, biliousness soon becomes a memory and jaundice, malaria, afflictions of the spleen and glandular swellings will be entirely eliminated. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores and for competent medical advice, free, consult by mail the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

"My Home"

There is sentiment and love and rightful pride in the words ---deeper than all the expressions of sentiment and love and pride could ever tell.

"My Home"

What man or what woman has not felt the magic meaning of all that "MY HOME" stands for!

But is it all that you would have it in furnishings and fittings?

Is there a lingering and unfulfilled desire within you to make it more comfortable, more cozy, to bring it nearer to your ideal of what "My Home" should be?

Let us suppose that there is; also let us suppose that you are very practical and sensible and wide-awake to opportunities as they may arise, and then let us tell you of

"The Blue Tag" Furniture Sale

It amounts to just this---

There is not a piece of furniture (excepting summer furniture and several lines that we have obligated ourselves to maintain prices on) in this big store that is not now offered at a great and fine saving---a saving just as real and positive as ever one was.

And when you take into consideration the fact that to select furniture here means to select it from one of the greatest and choicest stocks in this country, certainly the largest in the South, there is not much left to be desired by the home lover.

If you have dreamed of and planned

Children's Dresses 49c

Another shipment of those remarkable lawn dresses to sell at 49c. Sizes two to six years. Women who have bought before will hurry for these! Prettily figured and striped dresses, long waisted, plaited skirts, neatly, daintily made.

Girls' $1.35 Kimonos $1

Sizes two to twelve years. Most of them are of lawn, cool summer lawn showing flowers, gaily colored figures and the like—a few are of washable crepe.

Girls who will travel this summer will want one. At $1.50 instead of $2.00 are the larger sizes—fourteen to eighteen years, of figured lawns and solid colored crepes, finished with bands.

Girls' $1.75 Dresses $1.19

Sizes six to fourteen years. And they are far prettier than the average little gingham, percale and lawn dresses. It is a matter of the patterns—of the materials—they were selected for their neatness and their fine colorings—and the way they are fashioned.

Low necks, short sleeves, often edged with a band that "matches in," long waisted plaited skirts.

Hill Says All Is Well

OTTAWA, ONT., June 17.—James J. Hill, who is attending the convention of the New York State Bankers' Association here, has taken keen interest in recent Wall Street developments. Speaking of the general financial situation, he said to a correspondent:

"What is the matter with Wall Street anyway? Are they going crazy there? Every one is as blue as indigo, and half the people do not know what they are blue about. All that people have to do in times like these is keep a clear head and avoid getting rattled; then everything will come out all right.

Money Hard to Get.

"Yes, I know money is hard to get. I studied some time ago to the difficulty the railroads were experiencing in obtaining loans at a time when time-money rates were apparently easy. Selling short-term note issues is apt to occasion inconvenience when the notes happen to mature in a disagreeable money market. But the railroads have probably done the best they could do in a situation where it has been difficult to sell bonds, even in cases where the borrowing road has had the security to offer.

"The money market is a good deal of a problem, but it will work out all right.

"Why, those nervous fellows in Wall Street, who get worked up because money rates are going up or because the stock market is going down, ought to realize the United States will derive ten billion dollars new wealth out of the ground this year, or a sum which exceeds the world's gold production for ten years.

"I want to say, too, that the Washington situation is all right. To hear some people talk, you would suppose that the Administration was bent upon upsetting things. That is arrant foolishness."

PROSPERITY IN SOUTH HERE TO STAY

Two Great Railroads Show Immense Earning Increase Over Last Year.

Striking confirmation of the truth of the reports about the solidity of the financial situation of the South is furnished to-day in the following dispatch to The Georgian:

LOUISVILLE, June 17.—That the South is enjoying a period of great prosperity is indicated by the earnings of her railroad systems. The report of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad shows that the gross earnings for the fiscal year, which ends July 1, will show an increase of more than $3,000,000 over the same period last year.

The statement of the Southern Railway, whose fiscal year ends July 1, shows that the gross earnings for that system will be over $51,000,000, an increase of $3,000,000 over last year.

This makes it certain that, for the current fiscal year, these two great railroad systems of the South will show increases in earnings over last year that will exceed $7,000,000.

Also, James J. Hill, the empire builder, declares in an interview in The Georgian to-day that the pessimism of Wall Street is not well founded, and he points out that the country will derive $10,000,000,000 of new wealth out of the ground this year, or a sum to exceed the world's gold production for ten years.

The Georgian during the past week published interviews with many business men of Atlanta, and on Sunday The Sunday American published an elaborate interview with Asa Candler, in which they all declared that the financial situation in the South is strong, and they warned against the pessimistic writers of Wall Street.

Dear Mr. Ansley:---I have just read your advertisement in to-day's "Georgian," entitled "Harvests Are Good and There Will Be Plenty of Gold," and I wish to congratulate you for expressing the thought of all conservative business men in the South.

Forbes represents that spirit of unrest which is prevalent throughout the nation, and which must be suppressed.

While you have used Mr. Forbes as a text for a good advertisement for yourself, every Southern business man should thank you for the stand you have taken.

Cotton, that great product of the South, represents forty-seven per cent of the total exports of this country, and in 1913 history will repeat itself when this crop will prevent any financial crisis.

Yours very truly,

Awakening to the Importance Of the Western and Atlantic.

The public meeting to be held at the Auditorium Thursday night under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce to discuss plans for the future of the Western and Atlantic railroad will deal with a subject that is of the utmost importance to the interests of this city and of the entire commonwealth. It is not the purpose of this meeting to approve any particular course of action but rather to survey the subject from divers points of view and to consider the advisability of calling a State convention of business and legislative leaders who may be of service to the General Assembly in shaping this great affair to the people's highest advantage. To that end, the speakers for the meeting Thursday night have been chosen because of their intimate knowledge of railways in general and of the Western and Atlantic in particular; among them will be Chairman Murphy Candler, of the State Railroad Commission; Mr. W. A. Wimbish and Mr. Hooper Alexander. Citizens generally and business men especially will find it very profitable to attend this conference.

The Western and Atlantic is Georgia's most valuable piece of property, not simply because it is worth within itself some twelve million dollars, an amount sufficient to pay the State's entire public debt and leave more than five millions in the treasury, but also because of its vital bearing upon freight *rate problems and other farreaching issues of trans*portation.

How important, therefore, that the future of this magnificent property be given the most exhaustive and timely consideration. The present lease of the road expires in 1919, a fact which makes it imperative that the Legislature take up without further delay the question of a new lease and the settlement of the thousand-and-one details that present themselves. Properly administered, the Western and Atlantic will go far toward meeting many of the financial needs that now press so heavily upon the State. The Jour*nal has previously pointed out that with due fore*sight and management a part of the road's terminals at Atlanta and Chattanooga could be made to yield the State a richer revenue than is now derived from the lease itself. This and many other related questions call for the most careful and competent inquiry, and since the existing lease expires some six years hence, it is evident that the Legislature must get promptly to work, if it is to deal with this great matter effectively and to the State's best interests.

One thinks of a lobby when called on to choose his lumps of sugar.

For our part, we are content to let the weather records stand unbroken.

The lovers of hoe cake and pot liquor are going to organize a society, which indicates that the price of living hasn't affected at least two foods.

How Georgia Can Attain Economic Independence.

The statement by Secretary Cooper, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, that Georgia lacks more than thirty-seven million dollars annually of making enough money out of its cotton crops to pay for the food supplies brought into the State brings home with particular forcefulness the vital need of such work as is being done by the Boys' Corn clubs and kindred agencies. It is only through progressive and businesslike methods of farming that the State can become self-sustaining, as it should be, and attain that rich measure of economic independence which is its natural due. Hence the importance of the corn clubs whose quickening influence is not limited to one crop or to one generation but which extends to all fields of agriculture and bestirs fathers as well as sons to more fruitful endeavor.

Authorities reckon that the people of Georgia spent last year one hundred and seventy-two million, four hundred and ninety-six thousand dollars in buying from other States such products as corn, oats, hay, meat and other food supplies which could have been raised easily and cheaply at home. That is a fact of far-flung consequence not to the farm alone but to every sphere of industry and commerce, a fact that bears upon the interests of every household in the commonwealth. Its connection with the high cost of living is obvious. Its relationship to banks, shops, stores, factories, railroads and all other fields of business is no less manifest. Upon the changing of this fact for the better, depend the progress and welfare of our people as a whole. And through such influences as that of the Boys' Corn clubs, the change can most speedily and certainly be brought to pass.

Much has been said of late concerning Georgia's need of producing more livestock, a need that cannot be overestimated. But the first step toward solving this problem must be the production of more corn and forage; for, as Secretary Cooper points out, "We cannot have much in the way of animal products until we have enough corn, oats, hay and forage to feed the animals as well as the people. If we are short forty-eight million dollars' worth of corn, with no animals to feed, how much more will we have to produce to supply the present demand and furnish food, as does Iowa, for two hundred million dollars' worth of animals?" Iowa, it should be noted, whose area is about the same as Georgia's and whose soil and climate are no more advantageous, if as much so, as ours, is producing an average of thirty-six bushels of corn to the acre and, in addition to that, sells each year something like two hundred million dollars' worth of animal products.

The condition of affairs shown by this comparison must be remedied, as Mr. Cooper says, by doubling the work of our corn clubs and all other agencies of agricultural education: "Where there are now ten thousand boys in corn clubs, there must be a hundred thousand; this means the economic salvation of Georgia."

Such an achievement is in no wise fanciful, nor will it be very difficult, if the energy and good management that have been put into the Boys' Corn club movement for the past few years are continued. Since the organization of these clubs began, Georgia's corn crop has increased twenty-five million bushels and the average acre yield has increased from ten to fifteen bushels. These results are bright tokens of the greater things yet to be accomplished by the same means.

It is cheering to note that the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, under whose auspices State corn shows have been held for several years past, is preparing to make the 1913 show more interesting to corn growers and also to the general public than any which has gone before. There were more than eight hundred exhibits in the last exposition. Indications are that for the show which is to be held during the first week of next December that number will be more than doubled and that every available foot of the capitol corridors will be required for the individual and county displays.

There could be no surer evidence of the growing enthusiasm among the members of the Boys' Corn clubs, now organized in a majority of the counties—an enthusiasm due very largely to the enterprise of the Chamber of Commerce in inaugurating a State corn exposition with its generous prizes and other incentives to keen endeavor. Thousands of young farmers throughout Georgia are now bending their energy and intelligence to make a new record with an acre of corn, stimulated as they are by the honors and rewards which await them in the State show to be held next December.

Surely, such a cause merits the interest and the hearty support of all good Georgians, whether they are engaged in farming or in business pursuits; for, as this cause prospers and its influence widens, we shall cease to lack more than thirty-seven million dollars of making enough money out of cotton crops to pay for our food supplies bought in other States. We shall no longer have to spend over a hundred and seventy-two million dollars annually for food products that can be raised at home. We shall have a richer State, and a more prosperous people.

President Wilson doesn't intend that the people shall be fooled any of the time.

"The Mexican Macbeth."

General Huerta, provisional President of Mexico, is likened by the Courier-Journal to "the ambitious thane who murdered the gracious Duncan as he slept and, in murdering him, murdered sleep." The comparison is an apt one when viewed from the traitorous, blood-dabbled path by which Huerta climbed to his present station; but in the case of the Mexican, there seems to be no resourceful, iron-willed personality like Lady Macbeth to sustain him in the tangled consequence of his deed. Huerta stands alone, forsaker by his leading fellow conspirators and by the army over which he was supposed to wield an almost magic influence. Far from proving the strong man he was pictured to be, he has shown himself incapable of restoring the country to a semblance of peace or even of pressing forward his own selfish fortunes.

When Huerta assumed the provisional presidency there were optimists who predicted that he would soon have the spirit of rebellion under his heel. They considered his very unscrupulousness an asset in the task at hand; a hardened soldier, he would proceed unflinchingly against the revolutionists; his methods, though they might be extremely drastic, would be justified in view of the results he would accomplish.

A very great man might have succeeded with such tactics; a few great men have done so. But Huerta evidently possesses the ruthlessness with little, if any, of the genius that goes to make the successful dictator. Scarcely, had he entered office when his troops began to cool toward him and finally to desert. He is today, if we may judge from unbiased accounts, one of the most despised and one of the weakest men in all Mexico.

In times of peace the wise married men prepare for the curtain lecture.

Cupidity is what enables the get-rich-quick promoter to remain in love with his profession.

THE PHILIPPINES

VI.—INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

It is a wise child who can teach a trick or two to its own father. And it is a still wiser father who can swallow his pride and benefit by the youngster's good example. This is exactly the situation between the Philippine bureau of education and the educational system in the United States in regard to industrial education and manual training. There is a greater proportion of this sort of school work in the Philippines than there is in the United States. Americans are known the world over for their belief in scientific efficiency, but a number of educational bulletins of the United States government show that the earnest band of workers who make up the Philippine school system has gone them one better. Spencer, Locke, Rousseau, Frobel, Pestalozzi, Herbert and other high minded thinkers of great sanity have proved to the world that the training of the hand is a necessary complement to the training of the mind. Educational officials in the Philippines fully realize this great truth, and have applied it in a land where there is much greater need for practical training than for the usual scholastic.

• • •

Industrial instruction, including the ordinary manual training study of the household arts, gardening, and the building of modern school houses, with the assistance of the pupils and their parents, represents possibly 50 per cent of the curriculum of the Philip*pine school system. In fact, it may be considered the* principal subject of attention at the present time without, however, any deterioration of the academic courses. This was not true until 1910. Prior to that time manual training was an adjunct to the regular school course and not a very important part of it.

• • •

The change for the better in this regard was induced from without the educational department rather than from within. The islands were in danger for a number of years of making the same mistake that the British have made in India, fashioning an educational system which would turn out a mass of half-baked, scrambled brain scholars, lawyers and writers for whom there would be no adequate employment, while the country still cried in poverty for trained farmers and skilled tradesmen.

• • •

Credit for the change which came in the nick of time in the Philippines must be given in a large measure to the Manila Times and the Manila Cablenews-American. Once the change was effected, this great work in the uplifttment of a race has been carried on as only well grounded, well trained, earnest and enthusiastic educators can do such practical and humanitarian work.

• • •

Based upon foundations laid prior to 1910 by W. Morgan Shuster and David P. Barrows, this great movement has been fostered by Frank R. White, director of education; Frank L. Crone, assistant director of education; C. ". Magee, second assistant director of education; George N. Briggs, for a number of years superintendent of the Philippines normal school and now director of Filipino students in the United States; Vice Governor Newton W. Gilbert and Governor General W. Cameron Forbes.

• • •

As early as 1905 some special instruction was given in hat, mat and basket making, cloth weaving, including making of blankets and towels, tailoring, making of native silk, fans, screens, portieres, picture frames and dyes; some carpentry work, including furniture, chair and cabinet making; bamboo and bejuco, a little wood carving; rope, twine and fish net making; school gardening, pottery; blacksmithing and iron working; domestic science, including sewing, cooking and a smattering of housekeeping and nursing.

• • •

Mr. White, in his determination to give industrial instruction its full value, has proceeded to systematize *this experimental work. Schools with classes in gar*dening and field agriculture must possess a considerable tract of land. This was not always attainable and the same is true even today, and when it is a good deal of money must be spent in making it suitable for use. Trade and manual training schools require adequate shops and some machinery. Another obstacle was and still is in securing enough industrial instructors. Men and women of this type are so few, comparatively speaking, in the United States that it is hard to induce them to go to the islands. Nevertheless, very encouraging progress was made and before the end of the school year nearly 300,000 young Filipi*nos were receiving industrial instruction, the greater* proportion of them in more than one subject.

• • •

In the school year 1910-11 the work was further emphasized. The plans were perfected to make the Philippines School of Arts and Trades in Manila, the nucleus of the industrial training system. This was done so that in 1912 the director of education was able to report the following reorganization:

• • •

Academic department: giving practical instruction in the essential subjects and in the intermediate and secondary courses. Drawing department: free-hand drawing and mechanical drawing. Woodworking department: bench work, machine woodwork and furniture finishing.

Iron working department: bench and iron work; machine iron work; blacksmithing; carriage building and wheelwrighting. Automobile deparament giving instruction in the operation and repair of automobiles and explosive engines. This one department has done a great deal toward teaching those solid dainty, kid-gloved stuents the dignity of labor. These students now find it great sport to dirty their hands in the repair of automobiles, some of which belong to their own fathers. The automobile machine shop on Calle *Cereceros be*came a hospital for the invalid machines of the leading business firms, and it is known to joy riders.'

Ceramics department: pottery, glass and porcelain manufactures. This department is doing valuable work in developing the latent Philippine handicraft. Textile department: with special attention to the design and manufacture of Philippine material, better hats, wearing apparel and laces has been the result of this department's activities. Minor industries department: construction of furniture from bamboo and rattan, hat making from Philippine material; mats made obtained from Europe and the United States; mat and basket weaving, manufacture of other articles from local materials for home use and ornamentation.

• • •

The bureau did not include the provinces, its greater field of endeavor is in pressing the development of manual training throughout the schools of the islands. Trade and manual training schools are being established at each of the thirty-two provincial capitals and industrial work of varied character has been introduced into all primary and intermediary schools.

School boys in a hundred towns in the Philippines are wearing hats made by themselves. The hat exports from the islands have increased from less than a quarter of a million hats in 1901 to nearly a million and a half in 1912 and a great proportion of this increase is due to school industry. Igorots weave the cloth and make the clothing which they wear in school. Igorot boys are working with their American supervisors in building their own wooden and stone school houses. More than half of the desks and tables in the primary schools have been made by the pupils. The primary schools of Albay province are able to deliver 1,000 saleable baskets on a month's notice. Almost all the baskets of the principal orange district of Batangas are made by school children. Through school influence, nearly 1,200 gardens were established in one year in Union province. The exhibit of the bureau of education at the Philippine exposition of February, 1912, was the marvel of all foreign visitors and ranked high with the best state fairs in this country.

Suppressing a Panic

(New York World.)

Just as the New Jersey bosses discovered that they were dealing with a new kind of governor in Woodrow Wilson, so Wall street discovers that it is dealing with a new kind of president.

For years the government's established policy in the matter of financial depression has been simple and fatal. Washington waited until the panic had begun, until confidence and credit were undermined, and then turned the United States treasury over to Wall street, while the stock gamblers salvaged what they *could from the wreck. The Wilson policy is to sup*press the panic at the start and not at the finish.

Nothing could have been more timely than Secretary McAdoo's announcement that he was prepared to issue $500,000,000 in emergency currency under the Aldrich-Vreeland act. Wall street recovered immediately from its hysteria and its bankers, with characteristic patriotism, began to denounce the secretary for his "absurd offer."

The fact is now pointed out with a wealth of detail that there is plenty of currency in circulation and that no emergency currency is necessary, but forty-eight hours ago Wall street was pointing out with an equal wealth of detail that one of the disturbing elements in the situation was the necessity that would exist in a few weeks for immense sums of money to move the crops.

The truth is that there was plenty of money all the time, and except for the condition of the European money market, there was no reason whatever for Wall street's attack of nerves.

Proving it is the most important service that the treasury has rendered by its offer of emergency currency. Wall street's hysteria was rapidly undulating the entire country, and the Wilson administration has stopped the nonsense before it became serious.

Lady Macbeth and the Doctor

Lady Macbeth has been a fairly well known person for the last 300 years and nobody has regarded her as much of a mystery. When she walked in her sleep it had generally been supposed that the source of her uneasiness was the murder of Duncan.

But in Vienna a brilliant specialist has appeared, Dr. Sigmund Freud, who has reduced all forms of nervous disturbance to one formula, and a disciple of his, Dr. Isador H. Coriat, of Boston, has applied this formula to Shakespeare in a book on "The Hysteria of Lady Macbeth." It's all very simple when a Freudian explains it. Everybody was wrong. The lady walked in her sleep because of "an unconscious wish for a child." All the symptoms point in this direction—to a Freudian—and it is a tribute to Shakespeare's genius that his intuition enabled him to describe hysterical symptoms so in accordance with what a follower of Dr. Freud would expect.

But the theory was really too good to be true. Just as Dr. Coriat was in full flight, Dr. Logan Clendening, of Kansas City, came along and brought him down with a shot in the journal of the American Medical association. How, Dr. Clendening inquired, does Dr. Coriat know that Lady Macbeth had no child? In the first act of the play she speaks of having nursed a baby. "I have given suck," she exclaims in her tremendous outburst of indignation against her husband, and she goes on to tell how she would have dashed the baby's brains out under certain circumstances.

Besides, Dr. Clendening has the notion that it is just as foolish to hunt for an accurate description of pathological symptoms in "Macbeth" as it would be to assume that Shakespeare had anticipated the discovery of the circulation of the blood when he makes Brutus tell Portia that she is as dear to him as the ruddy drops that visit his sad heart.

Shakespeare was a marvelous observer, but it is suspected that he would have been surprised to learn that his characters were to be studied by alienists as if they were living inmates of asylums for the insane. —Kansas City Star.

Plays That "Fail"

Every new play produced implies, of course, a play withdrawn; and in the theatrical business activity is not usually, as in most other businesses, a sign of prosperity. It is admitted on all hands that most of the plays produced are "failures"—which means that they do not pay expenses or do not make a profit. A notable "failure" of this season was Ibsen's great historical drama "The Pretenders." By common consent it was a work of genius worthily mounted and wor*thily acted; by common consent* it was, in the theater's sense, a failure. Another exceptionally interesting play has been saved only by a kind of rally on the part of the public and the press. Plays of minor importance have come and gone too quickly to be remembered. It may be worth while to consider the causes of these "failures," and to ask why it is that plays acknowledged to be good plays should come to such untimely ends. The usual course is to blame the public for its neglect of a masterpiece. But in many cases the public has not been neglecting the masterpiece. It has been coming in moderate numbers, but steadily, to enjoy it; and the secret lies elsewhere. The truth is that many of these masterpieces would run twice as long as they do and not theatrical finance, as a whole, fallen into an evil state. To avoid being "failures" and ignominiously withdrawn, plays are asked to perform an impossible feat—to bring in money immediately and at a rate which is incredible. The cause of "failure" is not the small amount of money coming in, but the vast amount of money going out. The expenses of theatrical management are enormous; and very little, in proportion, is spent upon the play itself.—London Times.

Ridicule Will End War

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

Get the issue clearly in your mind. There are two sides to the question of military preparedness.

The case is stated with his characteristic lucidity by M. d'Estournelles de Constant in his speech at the interparliamentary congress on the 11th of May, at Berne, Switzerland.

"For forty years," he said, "France and Germany, who have been destined to render so many services to civilization, have been ruining themselves by excessive armament, and other states have followed their pernicious example. They tell us that these armaments are an assurance against war. Nothing is more false; those who support this argument are reduced to the worst Chauvinist appeals. Far from being a guaranty of peace, excess in military preparedness has become a universal menace." Don't let them fumble the issue! It is plain as a pikestaff.

You are in favor either of settling international disputes by the orderly process of law, which means reason and justice, or of settling them by war, which means inexcusable, stupid, national diabolism.

Disarmament is simple. Let the nations get together. One international meeting where they should agree to reduce armaments all around, or, better still, provide for ONE INTERNATIONAL FLEET to enforce the decisions of ONE INTERNATIONAL COURT, would save the world billions of dollars in one day.

To bring this to pass we must combat provincialism and emphasize humanity.

War depends upon provincialism, narrow passion for race or locality.

As soon as one gets humanity in his mind and upon his heart war becomes to him unthinkable.

It is the little rooster-price of being a German, a Frenchman, an Englishman, or an American that loves a uniform and wants to fight.

When you feel Humanity you are just as anxious to help the Japanese or the Italian people as the people of your own country.

War belongs to the ignorant, cruel infancy of the race; America is fifty years ahead of Europe; we are "getting to be a man now," and it behooves us to "put away childish things."

We—the nations of the earth—must get acquainted. "Il faut apprendre a nous connaitre" ("we must be taught to know each other") said Conrad Hausmann, a liberal German delegate, at the Berne conference, and added, "If we seek we shall find one another."

France and Germany met at Berne to talk things over and get better acquainted. Why cannot the WORLD meet, by delegates, and talk it over at least once a year?

Business men have conferences constantly. Why not nations?

Let us develop a world-consciousness.

God! What a world it would be if we were not afraid of each other!

The continually increasing number of warships, war balloons, forts and armies, all getting ready for possible mutual demolition, is so infernally absurd that some day the real cure will come.

The real cure for all antiquated humbuggery is RIDICULE.

Some day the world will see the joke.

THEN THE WHOLE MILITARY BUSINESS WILL EXPLODE IN ONE GIGANTIC ROAR OF LAUGHTER.

The Waste of War

"The Human Slaughter-House," by Wilhelm Lamszus, has truly startled the nations. One hundred thousand copies were sold in Germany within three months. It was suppressed in Hamburg, where it was originally published, but it has been translated into eight languages and just made its appearance in the United States. The author was removed from his official position by the Hamburg government but was reinstated because of the pressure of public opinion in his behalf.

The work has all of the vividness and force of Tolstoy at his best without the Russian's plea for non-resistance. But it throws the searchlight on modern warfare, and shows that changed conditions have brought into service the machine gun that spurts out bullets faster than rain can fall, the bursting of enormous shells over thousands of helpless men, the dropping of dynamite from aeroplanes flying secretly over the enemies' camp by night, the wiping out of whole regiments in thickly mined fields by the pressing of an electric button. War today is not conflict as history portrays; it is mechanical slaughter. It is waged by machinery scientifically applied for the great destruction of mankind. But the book holds the attention to the slaughter of human beings in this wholesale fashion, and the awful scenes witnessed on the field of death. I would advise all who talk war to read this book.

Quips and Quiddities

"You must choose between us!" ghouted Binx, throwing his pink extra on the floor and springing from the dinner table with a melodramatic jump. "You must choose between us," he continued. "You can't have both. When that dressmaker was last in this house I vowed that she should never come again. I have had all I'm ever going to have of being under the same roof with two semi-nutty women and requiring a rake every morning to get the odd pieces of cloth out of my clothes. I shall never again sit at my meals hearing the rattle and whir of that cursed sewing machine and listening to a lot of plaited, ruffled, cut-bias and flounced talk in which I have no chance to join. The day that woman comes I go. Make your decision now. Do you choose your husband or your dressmaker?"

With limpid eyes the lady looked upon her husband. Then she breathed a sigh and said

"Well, dear, if you must go what can I say?"

"And what did he say?" asked the diplomat.

"Sh-h-h!" cautioned the host, glancing anxiously about him. "He doesn't know that I have got it back."

SOUTH'S DEVELOPMENT OBJECT OF ORGANIZATION

William H. Manss Here to Interest Atlanta in Southern Settlement Enterprise

The organization and unification of purpose and method among development interests of the south, is the primary object of the Southern Settlement organization, according to its vice president and general manager, William H. Manss, of Baltimore, Md. Mr. Manss arrived in Atlanta Sunday from Florida, expecting to spend several days here meeting leading business men and explaining to them the work now being planned for the south's effective development through a central headquarters. It is probable that a meeting of some of those men may be called by the Atlanta chamber of commerce in order to facilitate Mr. Manss efforts to meet them.

"The whole southeast is interested in this work—each state for itself as well as for the others," said Mr. Manss to the Journal representative. "In that respect it is unique. Nowhere else in the United States is there an organization like it.

The organization grew from the gathering two years ago in Baltimore of sixteen southern governors and representatives of transportation companies and chambers of commerce. They nad assembled there to greet a number of western governors them on a trade extension tour of the east. The southern governors took formal action which has resulted in the Southern Settlement and Development organization. S. Davies Warfield is president of the organization.

Mr. Manss talks interestingly and very convincingly of the work which he is helping to organize and direct. Its outlook is broad, says he; its purpose is unselfish. Nowhere does it seek profit. None of its officers can profit by his official position. Its central headquarters are financed already by the transportation and other interests concerned in the south's further development. Mr. Manss took charge on March 17, and has named but not yet announced his colonization expert; has submitted his proposition to the man whom he wants for agricultural expert, and plans himself to act for the time being as the industrial expert. Meanwhile his first energies are being directed to inviting each of the southeastern states to get its own interests together and co-operate with the central headquarters at Baltimore for the south's uniform development.

WHAT FLORIDA DID.

"In Florida, where I have spent some days past, the commercial and other interests have raised $40,000 already, and expect to complete their self-assigned total of $100,000 within the next three months," said he. Monday, giving concrete illustration of his own immediate work. "Every cent of that will be spent in and for Florida by the Florida finance committee composed of men directly representing those who contribute to the fund. Jacksonville pledged $10,000; Tampa pledged $10,000; counties pledged more, forming the total. The finance committe for Florida was organized last Tuesday with Dr. W. M. Stinson, of Jacksonville, as chairman of it. No commission will be paid to anybody for collecting that amount. There is no commission anywhere. The central headquarters will not spend a cent of that money, nor attempt to dictate how it shall be spent. The Florida committee will determine just what lines of development Florida needs most to work upon. The experts of the central organization will be at the disposal of the Floridians and the other southern states. Our headquarters will serve them as they desire, with suggestions, facilities, trained advice.

"The legislature of Maryland, in which state the central organization has been chartered, appropriated $30,000 for this work.

"Other states will co-operate officially or unofficially as they choose and to whatever extent they choose, spending their own money and calling on us for suggestions when they want suggestions.

"RESULTS" THE SLOGAN.

"Nowhere is it expected that the centralized, harmonized, uniform work of development will conflict with any other interest now at work. Either it will co-ordinate all of them. Agricultural interests will be combined in this work for the general good of all in each state. 'Results'—always 'results'—will be the slogan. Talk divides; work unites. We expect to work, and to get results."

Mr. Manss explains that the development activities of central headquarters will be divided under four main heads—agricultural, industrial, colonization and publicity. The best experts in each of these departments will direct their work from the Baltimore headquarters.

"In the matter of colonization, for instance, we will invite the very best class of colonists to the untilled lands of the south. I know of 1,500 Scotchmen who are waiting now to come to the United States.

"Facilities to which I have access assure me of that as a fact. Similarly, some 5,000 Englishmen want to come over. Americans already citizens want to come to the southeast. The very best of colonists are waiting to be received here. The south needs them and they need the south.

"Yet we will invite no colonists anywhere. The states themselves are expected, through their state organizations, to apprise us of their desires and let us help them to secure them.

"In the matter of agriculture, there is the detail of cattle raising, which Georgia neglects woefully. In the past three or four months 300,000 head of cattle have been shipped from the southeast to Oklahoma and other western states, to be fattened there and returned here as slaughtered meat. Those cattle, and more than their number, should be pastured here in Georgia, and the soil enriched, the profit kept here and your well-equipped packing plants supplied.

"The resources of the south are only partly developed. Our work seeks to develop them by encouraging the south itself and by informing the rest of the world of the opportunities waiting here. Let us have a dream of Georgia five years from now. Thoughts are things and the state without a vision of future possibilities is dead."

Robert F. Maddox, of Atlanta, is Georgia's member of the central executive committee, says Mr. Manss. The entire work of organization within the state is yet to be done, and it must be done by Georgians if Georgia is interested sufficiently in getting results he said.

Mr. Manss himself is regarded as one of the foremost experts in this line of industrial and colonization work. Until he was secured for the southeastern work, he was engaged for a number of years along big lines of endeavor in this regard in the west. He created and organized the industrial department of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad and the civic industrial department of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

FOUR NEW LAWS TO BE ASKED BY GA. B. L. E.

Tull C. Waters, of Atlanta, Is Delegated to Lobby for Them, but Not "Insidiously"

The state legislative board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has just completed a three days' session in Atlanta, during which it mapped out a legislative campaign to be in inaugurated immediately upon the opening of the coming session of the general assembly.

Work for the passage of four certain bills will occupy the time of the engineers this year.

First, they want an amendment to an old law making the engineer equally liable with the railroad company for damages for injuries sustained by citizens or property to railroad crossings. The law, a portion of which the engineers want to repeal, makes the engineer liable criminally as well as for damages.

The law in question went on the statutes in 1855, and the engineers declare that it is high time it was coming off.

The engineers want another law which will compel railroads to place warning posts one mile on each side of every crossing. Most roads do this, anyway, but the legislative board of the engineers wants it done in every instance.

There exists in Georgia a law prohibiting railroads from blacklisting employes. The engineers, however, declare that this law is very weak, and is easily dodged by the carriers. They want to put a bill through the legislature which will strength it.

The fourth bit of legislation which the union wants to get by the legislature is what they term "a safe clearance law;" namely, a law which will prohibit the placing of obstructions close enough to a railroad track to strike a person even if his entire body should be lea ing out of the car. It is argued in favor of such a law that dozens of engineers have been killed by striking against water tanks, mail hooks and other obstructions placed too close to the tracks.

There are nineteen members of the legislative board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, but the "lobbying" is to be left in the capable hands of Tull C. Waters, the board's chairman, who is a member of the Fulton county commission.

Mr. Waters admits very freely that he is preparing to become a lobbyist, but denies emphatically that he is going to conduct an "insidious lobby."

NO MONEY FOR TEACHERS OF STATE YET FOR 1913

Unprecedented Delay of Six Months Without a Penny Paid, Is Remarked

Not a penny of their 1913 salaries has been paid by the state to its school teachers. In fact, the concluding payment of the 1912 salaries was made only a few days ago.

It is said that this is the first time in the history of the state that more than half of a year has passed without at least a small percentage payment being made on the salaries of the teachers.

This unusual condition is ascribed to the fact that the legislature of 1911-12 made appropriations which exceeded the state's income for this period by almost $500,000. It may be August or September before the state is in position to pay anything to the teachers.

One of the principal recommendations which Governor-elect Slaton will make to the new legislature will be that it shave down appropriations so as to hold expenses within the revenues.

SOUTHERN'S DINERS MAY GET NEW MANAGEMENT

According to report, the board of directors of the Southern railroad, which meets in New York Wednesday, is going to cause a shakeup in the dining car service of hte road.

George L. Best, of Charlotte, for eight years superintendent of the service, has resigned. It is said that his place may go to E. H. Rosecrans, of Atlanta, but at the same time there is a rumor that the separate department handling the dining car service may be abolished and the work merged with that of the passenger department.

MEN AND RELIGION BULLETIN NO. 60

COUNT THE COST

"When her masters saw that the hope of their gains was gone-----" Acts 16:19

Complaints will come.

Eleven houses, the so-called segregated district, and more than thirty-three houses scattered over Atlanta, have been closed.

In those houses a seven hundred thousand dollar a year business had depended upon the betrayal of sufficient girls to supply the trade.

An annual rental of sixty thousand and more dollars had been paid the landlords.

The closed doors marked the end.

Its doors and windows are boarded up.

And its former denizens know of no place in Atlanta where, under police protection, trapped girls can be bought and sold.

The Underworld.—Laugh not!

Continuous, concerted clamor is one of the oldest devices of the crook.

BY IT, JERUSALEM'S GRAFTERS crucified Christ; their clatter convinced Roman Pilate that multitudes desired the release of murderer, Barabbas, and demanded the death of Jesus, our Saviour.

The Light of the World they tried to quench; but by the cross they only raised It higher.

Ever triumphant, the risen Lord today moves on.

Following in His steps, Paul pitied the Philippian slave girl; men said she was "possessed with a spirit;" today, you would probably call her a degenerate.

Paul cured her. No longer would her infirmity support able bodied men. These, her masters, rebelled. They threw the city into an uproar with their cries. They said:

"These men trouble our city."

Their loss of dirty money doubtless did seem to them a civic catastrophe. Honest men knew otherwise. And men have not changed.

ATLANTA'S MORAL DOWNFALL HAS COME IN THE MIND OF THE PIMP, THE PANDERER, THE WHITE SLAVER AND THE LANDLORDS OF FALLEN WOMEN SINCE THERE IS NO LONGER A POLICE PROTECTED PLACE WHERE THEY CAN PREY UPON WEAK WOMEN.

"The hope of their gain" has gone; hence, the clamor.

So loud was it in Chicago that her city council appointed nine of its members a committee to consider reopening their recently closed red light district.

To this committee Attorney-General Cosson, of Iowa, said:

"A segregated district—a corrupted police force.

Father O'Callaghan, protesting against segregation, said:

"I do not want to call any city official 'His Honor, the Chief Panderer of the city.'"

Rabbi Hirsch, adding his voice, said:

"Every man, before he enters—should think of how he would feel if his own sister or his own cousin were to be held in such thraldom and slavery as these poor sisters of ours are held."

Jacob A. Riis wrote: "FIGHT IT TO A FINISH THE ONLY WAY."

Graham Taylor, reviewing the situation in the "Survey," says:

"There has been a surprising rally of public sympathy against restoring the suppressed disorderly resorts in the former segregated districts.

Therefore, remember: "When her masters saw that the hope of their gains was gone," they caused a riot in Philippi.

Similar tricks will not succeed in Atlanta. You are on your guard.

Market in New York Closed 4 to 14 Points Down from the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 18.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 5 to 9 points on the early trading under realizing by recent buyers, including those in Europe, and sales and scattering local pressure. Cables were a little lower than due and the weather was considered very favorable. Sellers also appeared to be influenced in some degree by the report of a local authority making the acreage under cotton this spring in excess of the big crop year or about 38,570,000 acres.

The market was quiet late in the forenoon after a rally to within 2 or 3 points of last night's closing figures prices eased off again under reports of good rains in the south west. Estimated receipts today 5,000 bales.

Fluctuations were more or less irregular during the early afternoon. There seemed to furnish plenty of support from fresh buyers on comparatively moderate declines but not realizing developed on rallies and prices remained 4 to 5 points under the closing figures of yesterday.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 18.—Cotton futures opened steady at a decline of 5 to 7 points on local cables and a disappointing weather map. Bulls offered no support in the early trading and the market was dull and lifeless. In the moderate short selling, accompanied by a small amount of liquidation from longs, weighed against prices. The forecast is for fair weather except rains in Texas, for the entire cotton belt over the week-end and the fact that the private bureau report on condition of 85.9 percent against 84.6 two years ago failed to create bullish but was offset by another private bureau report showing 38,900,000 acres planted in round figures against 37,500,000 a year ago. At the end of the first half hour of trading prices were 7 to 9 points under yesterday's close.

Toward the middle of the morning the market did better, partly on fears of buying of new realizations on the part of scalping shorts and partly on reports of more favorable conditions in Arkansas and one or two other sections. Houston reported rain of from 1 to 2 inches, however, were offset to some extent by the claim that many blooms were being found in the later portions of the week. Prices were highest, the trading months were 1 to 2 points over yesterday's final figures. Late in the morning the market sagged again and at noon stood 5 to 6 points under yesterday's last quotations.

MISS GILES' CROP REPORT

NEW YORK, June 18.—Miss Giles' report up to and including June 15: Ninth of 84 May 25, 86.2 last year and 87.5 in 1911.

Saving and Investing

The Savings Bank in the Corridor.

BY JOHN M. OSKISON

I found something new (to me) the other day when I was passing through the corridor of one of New York's biggest buildings. It was a New York savings bank which seemed to want people.

You all probably know that the savings banks of New York state are "mutual" banks, that they are controlled by boards of trustees who receive no reward of any sort for looking after their investment and seeing that they are kept prudent, and that every cent of profits made by the banks belongs to the depositors.

Also you know that these banks are generally old and that altogether they carry an enormous total of deposits. Perhaps you don't know that the job of looking after this mass of money is taking a lot of valuable time of men who are busy, but who, as I have explained, cannot honestly profit from their connection with them.

So the average New York savings bank puts up a fine building on a busy corner, and its officers stand at the receiving and paying window, half hoping that the thrifty people of the state will not ask them to handle too much of their savings. And, under the circumstances, it is perfectly logical.

But, as I have said, the little corridor bank was a surprise. In the first place, it plumped itself down right in the path of the busy throng instead of retiring to a dignified corner uptown. Then it had filled its windows with attractively printed placards suggesting that the hurrying thousands stop and think of the savings bank's appeal. Those placards told accurately and swiftly of the bank's steady growth when turned over to a savings bank. Then, between the bars of every window stuck small packets of literature explaining the bank, desirability of saving, and just what you have to do to become a depositor.

"Instantaneous and courteous service" and "our aim is to accommodate beginners and small depositors" (phrases which I found in this little bank's circular) are good to see in a savings bank's literature anywhere—used by a New York bank they shock one pleasantly.

INTERESTING NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE MARKETS

Weather Reports, Crop Advices, Expert Opinions and Newspaper Comment

COTTON GOSSIP

Thuse-Demorat says:

In so far as the crop, the temperatures and the forecast are concerned the cotton belt seems to be enjoying very favorable weather and for the present, at least, the trend is toward the belief that at least temporary reactions downwards are in order. The cotton market nowadays never behaves according to Hoyle, consequently the bears can only be certain they will come his way. Yesterday's market was distinctly irregular and nervous to suggest a stop, look and listen policy for the moment anyway. Liverpool's response was disappointing, and further bear covering of speculative short interest at New York was reported. However, commission and their agents alike are doing more and more of the contract trading here and in New Orleans ring, and the pigmy proportions of New York's cotton crop seem more, demonstrating to the big operators of the southern belt the necessity of looking for the drawing of many additional thousands of blues in the warehouses here, only in order to free their large scale transactions of the constant menace of small scale protection. Further, the ratio of the ginning of this week's supply seems to show very close kinship in spite of rains and other disturbing conditions, a fact which suggests caution in banking on the ability of the trade, under present circumstances and economic conditions of keep far enough ahead on supply of raw cotton to safeguard the consumer from the above mentioned.

Giles reports 83.9, against 84.6 as of June 11. Map shows local conditions: North eastern belt good, western states; warm night temperatures thus far favorable for fair setting of bolls. Splendid general rains over south and west Texas. Some good rains central and north Texas and Arkansas, but additional rains conditions are for generally fair weather in belt. Forecast: Generally fair weather over entire states.

Forecast:

Louisiana—Tonight fair, Thursday generally cloudy, not much change in temperature; light to fresh southerly winds.

Arkansas and Oklahoma—Tonight and Thursday generally fair.

East Texas—Unsettled showers tonight or Thursday; light to moderate easterly to southerly winds on the coast.

Kentucky—Fair tonight and Thursday.

Tennessee—Fair tonight and Thursday.

Mississippi—Fair tonight and Thursday.

10 a. m. bids in New York were as follows: January 11.54; July 12.14; August 11.11; October 11.63.

10 a. m. bids in New Orleans were: January 11.59; July 12.30; August 11.07; October 11.67.

Liverpool and the south selling. Map shows some rains in Texas which brought out some selling. July and October sold to low ground on Mitchell bought ully and August.

Houston News: Local rains over Texas is getting too much rain.

San Antonio Express: Splendid rains south and southwest Texas, where most needed. Crop shaping up fine. Local rains in this city.

Cameron, Tex., wires: Crop conditions continue very favorable, present prospects all that could be asked for though section, slow rains falling this afternoon. Much cotton up and will be no harm. Large per cent of farmers offering what cotton they expect to pick during September and October at 11½c basis middling.

Houston: Local rains, 74; Abilene, 04; Austin, 96; Ballinger, 06; Beeville, 1.60; Brenham, 1.00; Corpus Christi, 1.66; Brownwood, 84; Clarendon, 04; Columbus, 06; Corpus Christi, 24; Cuthbert, 1.20; Dallas, 62; Dublin, 1.20; Fort Worth, 92; Galveston, 94; Greenville, 10; Henrietta, 18; Hondo, 60; Houston, 24; Kerrville, 2.02; Kopperl, 18; Lampasas, 58; Longview, 02; Llano, 06; Luling, 32; Marble Falls, 1.00; Navasotta, 14; Palestine, 02; Paris, 08; San Marcos, 50; Seguin, 20; Taylor, 13; Temple, 38; Valley Junction, 20; Waco, 22; Weatherford, 1.26.

Memphis, Tenn.—Record acreage by Chronicle and this week's rains and weather map and Liverpool's weakness and in addition spot demand there is declining. Spot bar 40 under 400 and 500 added by bull party in New York has restrained bearish activity so far, but sentiment generally is against the bull side and if present weather is maintained improvement in July bounce seems more likely. We believe rainfall short interest has been materially reduced and that crop news will shortly gain ascendancy in making prices.—Miller & Cotter.

STOCK GOSSIP

Dow Jones' Summary: Berlin Bourse bars National Railway Commission and proposed Interstate Mexican government loan on advice of Prussian minister of commerce, who gives monetary pressure as reason. Liverpool bill expected to be introduced until next week. Judge Lovett issues sailing statement declining intervention of Union Pacific bankers to gain control of Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and Southern Pacific, Colorado Fuel and Iron cancels $14,-667,000 debenture bond. Soaking rains in northwest, greatly benefit crops. American stocks in London easier generally in early trade. Twelve industrials advanced 34; twenty active rails advanced .40.

The consensus of opinion among brokerage houses is that there has been a larger investment demand for stocks than for bonds and this has been apparent in several months. Prospects are good for an advance in stocks and that stocks purchased on recessions will show satisfactory profits.—Potter.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Chicago later Ocean says: It was the gossip last night that the largest traders who fought the advance in wheat for several days, were the best buyers on yesterday's break. Whether or not this is true, the bull edge was generally believed that the bull edge was off the market they don't expect it to go to prices at once and believe that a reaction has put it in better shape for another bulge when conditions are right. While there are a good many bulls on corn, conservative people are advising caution in buying at present levels. Many old crop traders have also declined being too bullish on drouth bulges in June. Bulls claim that crops will "fill out" but some receivers expect a good movement for two weeks. Bart Baldwin said last an advance of 5c a bushel in four days was more than was warranted by the crop or market conditions and that conditions continued bullish and the estimated yield is being cut down in many sec. Visible there is a serious crop scare so far, prices being at a level where extreme caution should be used in buying.

Bartlett, Frazier & Co., say: Wheat—Map shows further light rains in the northwest. There does not seem to be anything in the news this morning to cause higher prices or new buying.

Corn—With the exception of a few light showers in the ohio valley the belt received no precipitation. Market will doubtless rule nervous, but we think, on the whole, it is safer to be bullish about the high.

Oats—The general feeling seems to be that the market has had advance enough for the time being. Advise waiting for a fair setback before taking bold again.

Provisions—We are inclined to look for some further liquidation.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS.

Morris H. Rothschild & Co.: We advise purchases only on declines.

Miller & Co.: We look for higher prices.

Harris Winthrop & Co.: It is still a fortnight market, with the tendency more to buy on weak than on recently the case.

Dunlap Towle & Co.: We should consider short sales at this time very inadvised.

A. Neeber & Co.: It looks to us as still higher prices may be expected before long.

ESTIMATED COTTON RECEIPTS

NEW YORK COTTON LETTER.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Selling by Liverpool and Continental interests on favorable weather map caused lower prices just after the opening but commission house buying found steady support and prices rallied to within a few points of last night's closing figures. The Giles and Chronicle acreage increase of 8.20 was regarded as fully discounted by the bull party in New York has restrained bearish activity so far, but sentiment generally is against the bull side and if present weather is maintained improvement in July bounce seems more likely. We believe rainfall short interest has been materially reduced and that crop news will shortly gain ascendancy in making prices.—Miller & Cotter.

STOCK GOSSIP

Dow Jones' Summary: Berlin Bourse bars National Railway Commission and proposed Interstate Mexican government loan on advice of Prussian minister of commerce, who gives monetary pressure as reason. Liverpool bill expected to be introduced until next week. Judge Lovett issues sailing statement declining intervention of Union Pacific bankers to gain control of Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and Southern Pacific, Colorado Fuel and Iron cancels $14,-667,000 debenture bond. Soaking rains in northwest, greatly benefit crops. American stocks in London easier generally in early trade. Twelve industrials advanced .34; twenty active rails advanced .40.

The consensus of opinion among brokerage houses is that there has been a larger investment demand for stocks than for bonds and this has been apparent in several months. Prospects are good for an advance in stocks and that stocks purchased on recessions will show satisfactory profits.—Potter.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Chicago later Ocean says: It was the gossip last night that the largest traders who fought the advance in wheat for several days, were the best buyers on yesterday's break. Whether or not this is true, the bull edge was generally believed that they don't expect it to go to prices at once and believe that a reaction has put it in better shape for another bulge when conditions are right. While there are a good many bulls on corn, conservative people are advising caution in buying at present levels. Many old crop traders have also declined being too bullish on drouth bulges in June. Bulls claim that crops will "fill out" but some receivers expect a good movement for two weeks. Bart Baldwin said last an advance of 5c a bushel in four days was more than was warranted by the crop or market conditions and that conditions continued bullish and the estimated yield is being cut down in many sec. Visible there is a serious crop scare so far, prices being at a level where extreme caution should be used in buying.

Bartlett, Frazier & Co., say: Wheat—Map shows further light rains in the northwest. There does not seem to be anything in the news this morning to cause higher prices or new buying.

Corn—With the exception of a few light showers in the ohio valley the belt received no precipitation. Market will doubtless rule nervous, but we think, on the whole, it is safer to be bullish about the high.

Oats—The general feeling seems to be that the market has had advance enough for the time being. Advise waiting for a fair setback before taking bold again.

Provisions—We are inclined to look for some further liquidation.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS.

Morris H. Rothschild & Co.: We advise purchases only on declines.

Miller & Co.: We look for higher prices.

Harris Winthrop & Co.: It is still a fortnight market, with the tendency more to buy on weak than on recently the case.

Dunlap Towle & Co.: We should consider short sales at this time very inadvised.

A. Neeber & Co.: It looks to us as still higher prices may be expected before long.

ESTIMATED COTTON RECEIPTS

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET WAS FIRM AND HIGHER

Union Pacific, Reading, Steel, Canadian Pacific, Copper and St. Paul Led

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 18.—Trading at the opening of the market today was unusually small. The undertone was firm and the execution of such buying orders as were on hand were sufficient to raise prices of some of the leaders materially. Union Pacific rose 2 points on the after transactions, interborough preferred 1¾, and Amalgamated, Steel, Reading and Northern Pacific a point.

The absence of life in the market, which took the shorts unaware was over by 10:30. The movement was led by large operators and there was a general reaction amounting to a point or over in Union Pacific, Interborough-Metropolitan preferred and Canadian Pacific. Illinois Central was weak, falling 2¾ under yesterday's closing.

Bull operators retained their grasp on the market through the early part of the session, but as pace, inviting the subsequent relapse, sentiment favored profit taking.

Dealings were largely professional and the outside investment demand was light. Broken and thin during the forenoon, the entire outside buying was heavy only on recessions.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $2,000,000.

Profit taking checked the afternoon advance after numerous gains of 1 to 2 points had been made. Fullness set in when the list went back half a point or more.

Beneficial rains over a large part of the crop regions promised to relieve the drouth in western railroad stocks. Canadian Pacific and the Hill and Harriman groups moved up strongly. Reading, Lehigh, Amalgamated and Steel also were extensively taken.

Buying appeared to have a more pronounced effect when realizing stopped and dealings were attended by renewed activity and higher prices until professional selling forced the market to a lower level at close. Steel acted better after the trade reviews were out. Closed easy.

Miss Sadie Ellis left during the past week for a visit to friends in New York and Brooklyn.

A large and beautiful morning party during the week will be given by Mrs. Homer C. Wheeler at her handsome home on Twelfth avenue in honor of three popular visiting ladies, Mrs. Benson, her mother, of Atlanta; Mrs. Walter Elliott, of Arkansas, the guest of Dr. Elliott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Elliott, of this city, and Mrs. Felix Clay, of Montgomery, Ala., who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. F. E. Tyson.

Mrs. D. M. Clark will entertain the young Matrons' club one afternoon this week in her usual cordial, hospitable manner, the occasion being in honor of out-of-town visitors.

Mrs. T. E. Bradley will leave in a few days to spend some time with friends in Atlanta, and her parents in north Georgia.

Misses Minnie and Edith Pangus will join a party of friends from Augsta, leaving in a few days for the summer at Hendersonville, N. C.

Garden Party at Home of Mrs. John M. Slaton

At the country home of Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, on Peachtree road, on Wednesday afternoon, June 25, from 5 to 7, the Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., will have a beautiful garden party.

A musical program will be given on the lawn and refreshments will be served.

This garden party, which is being arranged by the many members of the Atlanta chapter, will be for the benefit of the chapter work, and a small admission will be charged.

Every member and all the friends of the chapter members are invited to be present and make of this a financial success.

Mrs. J. Osgood Wynn, regent, will be assisted by the members in making a delightful afternoon.

Eat This Food During Summer

Be careful what you eat during hot weather. What you need is food that nourishes but does not heat the body.

Faust Spaghetti fits right into that class. It is a high gluten food—a bone, muscle and flesh former—but contains practically no fat, therefore cannot heat the body.

FAUST SPAGHETTI

makes a savory, appetizing dish. It can be served in a great many ways that appeal to the palate. It is easily prepared—it makes a nutritious, non-heating meal during the summer. Write for free recipe book, "Spaghetti and Its Uses." Faust Spaghetti put up in air-tight, moisture-proof packages.

INTERESTING WEDDINGS

Hall-Turner Wedding

Cordial interest centered in the wedding of Miss Muriel Hall and Mr. Louis Turner, which was a beautiful event of Tuesday evening at St. Luke's church.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. C. B. Wilmer, assisted by Rev. Stewart Williams, of Macon.

The church was artistically decorated throughout with southern smilax, the chancel was banked with palms and ferns which formed a striking background for the wedding party, and a profusion of white sweet peas made effective contrast to the green of the growing plants.

Promptly at nine o'clock the vested choir entered and moved in stately processional down the aisle chanting the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin.

The maid of honor, Miss Fannie Turner, came next, wearing a gown of pink satin charmeuse with overdrapery of rose colored net and she carried pink sweet peas.

Mrs. Harry Robertson, of Charleston, the matron of honor, preceded the bride, and was costumed in pink crepe fashioned with graceful tunic of pink embroidered chiffon, and her flowers were pink sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

The bride entered with her brother, Mr. Harleston Hall, and was beautiful in her wedding gown of white satin, the corsage of net was veiled with duchesse lace, and a graceful drapery of the rare lace was continued on the skirt.

The veil of white tulle was caught to the blonde hair with a spray of fragrant orange blossoms and fell in graceful folds to the edge of the long court train. Her only ornament was a diamond pendant, the gift of the groom, and she carried a shower of lilies of the valley.

The ushers were Mr. Will Brantley, Mr. Harrison Jones, Mr. John Harris, Mr. Chessley Howard, Mr. Harry Robertson and Dr. Joseph Lane, of La-Grange.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Lyman Hall, on Third street, at which were entertained the wedding party and intimate friends.

The guests were received in the living room, which was adorned with many lovely Paul Neron roses and varicolored sweet peas.

Mrs. Hall was costumed in black satin with veiling of black lace, a corsage of lilies of the valley lending a lovely finish to the gown.

Punch was served during the evening by Miss Harriet Haynes and Miss Edith Watts.

After a wedding trip in the north Mr. and Mrs. Turner will be at "Norwood Hill" in LaGrange.

The bride is the daughter of the late Dr. Lyman Hall, who was president of the Georgia School of Technology, and one of the noted educators of the south, and Mr. Turner is the son of the late Dr. J. R. Turner, who was a pioneer citizen of this city.

To Miss Trennor

Mrs. Wofford Edwards will entertain at luncheon Saturday at her home in West End, in compliment to Miss Loretta Trennor, a bride-to-be.

Miss Ethel Milliken will entertain at tea Thursday afternoon at the Georgian Terrace in compliment to Miss Trennor, and her cousin, Mrs. W. F. Anderson, will entertain in compliment to her after the wedding.

Reagan-Redwine

Charming in every detail was the outdoor wedding of Miss Lucy Reagan and Mr. Hill Redwine, taking place in McDonough, at Spring Hill, the home of the bride. Immediately preceding the ceremony, Miss Annie L. Nolan sang "Dear Heart I'm Coming Home to Thee," and "Just a Song at Twilight."

The bride entered with her father to the strains of Lohengrin, rendered by Miss Annie G. Thompson. The ceremony was performed under a series of arches, covered by southern smilax, pink roses and studded with tiny electric lights, Dr. John Armstrong, of Atlanta, officiating.

The bridesmaids, Misses Agnes Dunn, Ruby Walker, Susie Gunn and Jane Stanfield wore dainty frocks of pink embroidered crepe and carried baskets of pink and white sweet peas.

The maid of honor, Miss Bass Fouche, was gowned in white embroidered crepe and her bouquet was pink Killarney roses.

The groomsmen were Dr. L. P. Longino, of Milledgeville, best man; Mr. Rody Redwine, of Atlanta; Mr. T. E. Tolleson, Mr. W. C. Hodnett and Mr. Walter Burch, of Fayetteville.

The bride's gown was of heavy brocaded satin, the corsage adorned with real lace and seed pearls, her tulle veil was caught with lily of the valley, her bouquet was bride's roses, showered with valley lilies.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held.

Mrs. E. J. Reagan, mother of the bride, wore grey charmeuse, trimmed with cut steel, and Mrs. Redwine's gown was of black charmeuse.

The punch bowls were presided over by Misses Elleene Neal, Nina Wall, Ethel Sowell and Ruth Turner. Misses Helen Dunn, Alla B. Carmichael and Hattie Sue Low had charge of the bride's book. After receiving the congratulations of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Redwine left for an extended trip east. On their return they will be welcomed to their new home in Fayetteville.

Moonlight Picnic

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Hull entertained Tuesday evening at a moonlight picnic in compliment to Miss Marie Griffin, of Temple, who is the guest of Mrs. John Stone.

The guests included Miss Temple, Miss Willie May Hamilton, Miss Leola Wallace, Miss Marie Hull, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. John Stone, Mr. George Hamilton, Mr. Ned Hull, Mr. E. D. Lester, Mr. Robert Armstrong, Mr. Frank Hull and Mr. Raymond Burks.

Fete Postponed

The lawn party which was to have been held by St. Mary's Guild church of the Incarnation, has been postponed indefinitely on account of the death of Mrs. C. J. Kamper.

Church Picnic

The primary department of the First Methodist Sunday school, Mrs. Wyatt, teacher, will have their picnic on Thursday at Grant park. Parents are urged to bring the children, and their baskets, and meet at the pavilion at 10:30 o'clock.

What Anne Rittenhouse Says

In the midst of all the so-called feminine clothes which are worn this season—and feminine means clinging draperies, soft fabrics, ruffles, ribbons, spangles and furbelows—there has come about an exclusive fashion among a certain set of women for wearing the most masculine costumes.

There is a new skirt called the peg top which is not gathered but is quite free and easy over waist and hips and quite narrow at the hem with a band of braid up each side and a two-inch hem turned back on the outside and pressed into place. There are slash pockets on the hips and a belt at the waist line run through a silver trousers buckle at the back.

The coat that goes with this is a cutaway one, but made like those the men wear instead of the one-piece affair that women have worn. It has braid edged revers, a breast pocket, a pleat at the back of the coat tail and a brilliant waistcoat fastened single-breasted and high in front; there are also two pockets at the waist line.

As mannish as this garment sounds it is very attractive on even a gentle type of woman. When she adds to it a soft pleated shirt, a high rolling negligee collar caught with a gold safety pin beneath a slim knitted cravat she is smartly turned out for any day occasion less than a social function.

If there are some who cavil at the masculinity of this costume, let them quickly give praise for it as a substitute for evening house gowns which some women seem to think are intended for shopping expeditions.

When the waistcoat first arrived it created little stir; a few women took it up, but these were mostly women who bought imported gowns to which the waistcoats were attached. The garment is growing in power, however, and the French dressmakers say that it will be worn even more in September than now.

Waistcoats of Roman Silk.

It would be difficult to describe the variety of fabrics which go toward the making of these garments; all the materials that men use are taken up and many others, such as chintz, chair coverings, wall hangings, brilliant, satins and plaid and striped silks.

It is thought in high quarters that the waistcoats of Roman ribbon striping will be the most fashionable ones for the summer costumes because the world is already a bit tired of brilliant plaid and yet it is not ready to go back entirely to the plain colors and omit the fabrics which have contrasting tones used in the design.

One would not think it possible that a purely mannish garment like a waistcoat could be so speedily feminized. It has no curves, it comes well below the waist line, it is fastened almost to the collarbone, and yet something in the way the modern woman walks and carries herself gives it a decidedly womanish appearance.

Even when it is not of yellow satin, as Pequin loves to make it, or of Roman striped silk, as Cherubi likes to fashion it, it does not look especially masculine. It may be too warm an adjunct to any costume for an American summer south of Newport, but if its present popularity continues it is sure to be added as the first aid to warmth to the early autumn suits. You can easily see its advantages in that line, for a lined silk coat can go far toward making a silk or satin suit comfortable on chilly days in October and November. If it is heavy enough it will be quite an asset to the woman who desires to be or must be economical.

Wear Your Cutaway Coats.

It is probably absurd to place credence on June rumors for August clothes, but there is so much talk about the withdrawal of the regulation cutaway coat for another kind that it may be the better part of wisdom to get the best wear you can out of the one you have. If it is black with braid bound edges and goes with a checked skirt wear it every day so that you will have your money's worth of the purchase.

It is probable that the short cutaway coat or the short coat of any kind and shape will go out of fashion as the cooler weather comes in because there has already been an announcement that longer coats and wraps are to be shown on the 15th of August on the Rue de la Paix, the Place Vendome and the streets of the Champs Elysees. As for the Rue Taithout, over which Callot presides, there is no telling. She is a law unto herself, as is Paul Poiret up in the Avenue d'Antin, in that old gardened house where once lived the paces of the kings of France.

THE EVENING STORY

The Point of View

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werner.)

It was only when she stepped off the train in front of the little red depot in the country town where she was raised that Geraldine Kelly realized how vain is success. In the big city that is spread out by the lake she earned a salary that for a newspaper woman was considered mighty by the men who worked beside her. She often had the honor of being pointed out in restaurants to folks who stared interestedly.

Would he understand.

She knew that she was an unusually keen, well poised woman, to whom success was so assured that it no longer awed her.

But when she put foot to the old country platform success dropped away and she could not hold it. To the townspeople there she was simply Jerry Kelly, the queer daughter of shiftless old Jim Kelly, who was constable because no one else cared for the trifling job and who chewed tobacco and dragged out a lazy, comfortable existence with Jerry's stepmother in a shabby cottage at the edge of town. Of course, people knew that Jerry worked in a newspaper office—they had an impression that she set type or ran errands for the editor. They looked at her chic tailor made suits curiously. She looked nice, of course, in spite of her age—she must be all of thirty—but, for goodness sake, why did she wear such awful plain clothes? Living in a city, too, where things were cheap.

But then she was Jim Kelly's daughter and couldn't be expected to know how to dress. Every one spoke to her kindly when they met her on Main street—hadn't they known her since she was a baby?—but no one came to call, except one or two girls, who had been of her own station twelve years before and whom she now pitied infinitely, with their slatternly clothes and numerous children, and found infinitely wearisome. She was inwardly amused to know that they, in turn, pitied her for her work filled life and lack of $12 a week husband and housework.

And she didn't care in the least what people thought of her or her clothes. She came back once a year to spend a week with her shiftless but good natured father, who bragged of her incessantly. But no one listened to his bragging and didn't believe him when he told the amount of the checks that she sent him regularly. Her stepmother was a colorless, amiable person —not much, or she wouldn't have married old Jim Kelly. But Geraldine liked her, in spite of the fact that the week got longer each year.

She didn't care until one summer when she met Robert Arnold on Main street. He held out both hands in great surprise, and she learned that he was spending two days with President Wilson, of the City bank, whom he had known for years before in a little jerkwater college in Ohio.

"I will see you, I suppose, this evening," he said casually, when he had walked down the street with her and she had turned into the postoffice.

For the first time Geraldine rebelled at the small esteem in which she was held. She was a broad minded woman, far too immersed in her work to care for trifles, such as being omitted from a reception which a small town social leader was giving. But Robert Arnold, a coworker in Chicago newspaperdom, was one of the few people in the world who really mattered to her. It was humiliating for him to learn. Would he understand? Or would he infer that her people were criminals instead of merely poor and indolent?

"No," she said quietly. "I— " she hesitated, laughed and then said frankly, "if you mean Mrs. Wilson's reception in honor of her guest, I am not invited."

He was puzzled, and looked it. "You don't know her?"

"On the contrary," she replied, lightly, "I was in her Sunday school class as long as twenty years."

Robert Arnold looked questioningly at her, waiting for her to explain, but she shrugged her shoulders in amusement and turned away as Mr. Wilson, smiling, approached.

Afterward she strolled home in a fairly pleasant mood. Her own light words had brought the humor of the situation plainly before her. She decided that if Robert Arnold, when the matter was completely explained to him, as it would be before he left the Wilson home, couldn't likewise see the humor, then he wasn't the man she had thought him to be, and she wouldn't care a snap for his opinion. But she hoped, wistfully, that he would see the joke. If he was too obtuse— Well, it was only another illusion smashed. An illusion smashing was painful when one was thirty, but it wasn't fatal, especially when a woman had plenty of work.

She was thinking of Robert Arnold, who at that moment was the center of an interested circle in the Wilson parlors. Geraldine knew the interior of those parlors. Mrs. Wilson used to have the class of little girls up for cake and ice cream twice a year. How she had admired them once as she sat stiffedly on the edge of a green plush sofa, afraid to move, in all that elegance of upholstery and Brussels lace curtains! How pleased she had been when Mrs. Wilson told them on Sunday that she would expect them the following Wednesday.

Geraldine laughed in self scorn. Shoo! That was what she was degenerating into! She must be, or she would never lounge there irritably hating Mrs. Wilson had asked her tonight.

"Mrs. Wilson is giving a party tonight," she said purposely and suddenly. "I think it's a shame she doesn't ask you as if you wasn't good enough to meet any snippy city fellow that's visiting them. But you don't care, do you, Jerry?"

"Of course she don't," her father said, huffily. "When she's here just a week she likes to spend my evening's with us. She can go gadding plenty in the city. Can't you, Jerry?"

There was an unwonted wistful note in his voice. Geraldine heard it with surprise. She had supposed that they were carelessly fond of her in the same old way that she cared for them. "And tomorrow night's your last," he added regretfully.

Geraldine was guiltily ashamed that at that very moment she had been contemplating a departure the next morning. "No, it isn't," she declared recklessly in atonement. "I'll stay till Monday." She told herself that she really needed the rest. The last year had been hard.

"Then I'll have a chance to make some more of that cake you like so well," her stepmother exclaimed eagerly. "Jim, don't you forget to order figs when you go downtown in the morning, or I'll whack you."

Geraldine laughed in gay gratitude, and lay back contentedly in the hammock, watching the moon glide slowly from behind a white cloud. If one couldn't go to receptions there was still fig cake to sweeten life. And after a while she went in to bed, too drowsy from the night air to fret over Robert Arnold's possible sense of humor.

But in the morning she awoke earlier than usual and wondered at the heavy feeling. As soon as she remembered she shrugged it away. She was far too old and too sensible to feel badly over such a trifle. Nevertheless, despite her age and common sense, her heart beat faster, when, after breakfast, as she leaned on the gate, Robert Arnold approached.

"No," he said, grimly. "How long do you have to stay?"

"Lovely breeding you've got. Making fun of—"

"I don't care. This place reminds me of the one I was born in. My father was a mere brakeman on the railroad, and I'm considered presumptuous because I take a cab from the depot to the hotel."

Geraldine read the salve that he was trying to offer for the reception to which she had not been invited. Her eyelids drooped over the glad light that she could not suppress. A sense of humor? He had more than that; he had perfect and tender understanding.

Try Skin Absorption Instead of Cosmetics

(From the Woman Militant.)

The constant use of rouge and powder invites a coarsened, roughened condition of the skin, eruptions, enlarged pores and wrinkles. If you've learned this from experience, suppose you quit cosmetics and try what I recommend.

Ask your druggist for an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax and begin using this tonight. Apply like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. Keep this up for a week or two. The wax will literally absorb the coarse, colorless or blemished top skin, but so gradually as not to discommode you at all. Just as gradually the clear, velvety, naturally-tinted underskin comes to the surface. And mercolized wax becomes your everlasting friend.

For those wrinkles and large pores, make a face bath by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint witch hazel. This has remarkable astringent and tonic properties, and beneficial results come quickly.—(Advt.)

A series of parties have been planned for Miss La Grange Cothran and Miss Katherine Graves, of Rome, who are the guests of Miss Louise Couper.

The bridge party at which Mrs. Rix Stafford will entertain will be an event of Thursday.

Miss Marie Cobb will be hostess at a tennis tea Friday afternoon at the East Lake Country club.

The guests will include Miss Cothran, Miss Graves, Miss Louise Dobbs, Miss Dodo White, Miss Lyndall Haddon and Miss Louise Couper.

Miss Louise Couper will be hostess at a bridge luncheon Saturday in compliment to her guests.

Besides the honor guests Miss Couper's guests will include Miss Nell Walker, Miss Pattie McGehee, Miss Josephine Smith, Miss Jessie Thompson, Miss Evelyn Green, Miss Evelyn Roan, Miss Thornton Clarke, Miss Marie Cobb, Miss Pauline Kendall, Miss Louise Dobbs, Miss Catherine Darby, Miss Estelle Weaver, Miss Margaret Traylor, and Miss Louise Dull.

Saturday afternoon Miss Lyndall Haddon will entertain at a matinee party at the Forsyth in compliment to the attractive visitors.

Miss Haddon's guests will include Miss Graves, Miss Cothran, Miss Couper, Miss Dodo White, Miss Marie Cobb, Miss Helen Atkisson, Miss Edith Hudson, Miss Helen Jackson, Miss Edith Holleyman and Miss Kate Holleyman.

Curry-Wilson

Mrs. Leon Roscoe Walker announces the marriage of her cousin, Miss Colleen Euphemia Curry, of Key West, Fla., to Mr. Arthur Harrington Wilson, of San Angelo, Tex., on Friday evening, June 13, at the Church of the Incarnation, Rev. John D. Wing, officiating.

Bruce-Allison

A very quiet but pretty wedding was that of Miss Mary Lora Allison and Mr. Clifford Bruce, which took place on Tuesday afternoon in Lavonia, Ga.

The ceremony took place at 4:30 o'clock, the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Bessie Alderman, a cousin to the bride, announcing the bridal party's entrance.

Miss Lila Hall with Mr. Marshall Allison and Miss Fannie Lou Chandler with Mr. Thomas Carson entered first. Then came the bride and groom. They took their places before an improvised altar of ferns, under a cluster of wedding bells.

The decorations of the home were in white and green. Festoons of green and white wedding bells were used with ferns and cut flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce will be at home to their friends after June 22, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Gary, of Lavonia.

The out-of-town guests who were at the wedding are Miss Bessie Alderman, Greensboro, N. C.; Mrs. Orr Shirley Hartwell, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Turner, Atlanta Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Neal, Commerce, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Morton Echols, Commerce, Ga.

Chamberlin-Devereux

Among the social news of the past week crowded with interest to the people of Palatka was the announcement of the marriage of Miss Fanny Marie Devereux, of this city, to Mr. Edward Peyton Chamberlin, of Cuthbert, Ga.

The ceremony took place at the Episcopal church in Albany, Wednesday, June 4, and was attended by a large gathering of the society people of that city.

Special interest attaches to the wedding here because of the social prominence of the bride, her acknowledged beauty and many and varied accomplishments, chief among which is a highly trained voice which made her in constant demand in musical circles and public gatherings. She was reared in Palatka and the charm of her manner and person made her a special social favorite among the people of this city.

Mr. Chamberlin is a man of wealth and social influence. He will be remembered by many as a visitor in the city during the past winter.—Palatka News.

Ice Cream Festival

The ladies of the Georgia Avenue Presbyterian church will have an ice cream festival on the lawn of the church, corner of Grant and Georgia avenue, Thursday, June 19, from 4 to 10 p. m.

This festival was postponed from May 23 on account of the weather. All tickets sold for that date will be redeemed at this time.

THREE POSTMASTERS FOR GEORGIA ARE NOMINATED

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 18.—Georgia postmasters named today are: Hebardsville, Ware county, D. L. Haynes, new office; Juno, Dawson county, L. S. Chastain, vice A. E. Harben, resigned; Suches, Union county, M. J. Lunsford, vice J. H. Lunsford, resigned.

DETECTIVE HEAD POINTS NEED FOR MORE SLEUTHS

Following the announcement that he would ask the addition of six more men to his department, in order to more properly handle increasing crime in Atlanta, Chief of Detectives Lanford Wednesday morning called attention to the large number of burglary cases which the police have had to deal with lately.

Twenty-five alleged burglars, all of them negroes, were bound over to the higher courts for trial in police court on Tuesday and Wednesday morning. Many of the cases had been "worked" by the detective department.

"When one realizes the amount of work expected of us," said Chief Lanford, "it is easy to see that more men are needed."

Dave Williams and Henry Brown, two of the negroes bound over, are held in default of $6,000 and $5,000 bond, respectively. They are accused of flimflamming merchants out of various sums by fake orders for goods to be sent out with change for bills of a large denomination. There are ten separate cases against each black.

Herman Butler, who participated in a pistol duel with a Pinkerton detective in the Troy laundry several days ago when he was interrupted in the act of robbing a safe in the plant, was bound over Wednesday morning under a $2,000 bond.

COMMISSION PLAN IS WANTED IN WEST POINT

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

WEST POINT, GA., June 18.—The first official act towards changing the present city government of West Point to a commission form of government was inaugurated by a mass meeting held at the city council chamber at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

W. Trox Bankston was elected chairman of the meeting and M. M. Hagedorn, secretary. The motion of E. J. Collins that a committee of six be appointed by the chairman to draft a bill providing for the change to a commission form of government was unanimously carried, the following committee being appointed: E. J. Collins, A. C. Hooker, J. T. Zachery, J. S. Baker, Amos Huguley and J. L. Barrow. A motion making W. Trox Bankston ex-officio chairman of this committee carried.

This committee is to draft and have Monday night, June 23, a bill which will be confirmed by a mass meeting at the city council chamber.

MOBILE FALLING FAST; FIGHT FOR NEXT PLACE

With Chattanooga, Montgomery and Atlanta All Playing Jam-Up Ball, Mobile Will Hold First Place But Short Time

Mobile is fast slipping from the top of the Southern league heap while Chattanooga, Montgomery and Atlanta are climbing just as rapidly and ere many more days have passed there is going to be a sickening thud as the Gulls topple down against the Billikens, Lookouts or Crackers or maybe all three.

During the past two weeks the Gulls have been dropping slowly but surely, and but for the big lead this bunch gained by the early season spurt there would be nothing to it but third or fourth place for Finn. While the fall of the Gulls has been remarkable it is not near so sensational as the spurt now under way by Kid Elberfeld's Lookout nine. This bunch has been going like the Athletics and unless headed at no late date will be out in front with a mighty good lead.

The Chattanooga, Montgomery and Atlanta clubs are so closely bunched for second place that the race is getting to be one of the most exciting ever waged. Chattanooga is now out in front with Montgomery's half a game away and Atlanta yet a half game below the Dobbers. This makes a complete change possible and probable with no less game.

Atlanta stands a grand chance to jump right out in front within the next few days and you can bet Bill Smith is preparing his club for just such a spurt. Two straight wins from Nashville have served to put the Vols in the second division and at the same time send Atlanta up higher in the fight to oust Mobile. The latter part of this week the Birmingham club is at Ponce de Leon and the going against this near tail-end aggregation should not be so hard. Atlanta has always been good against Birmingham and with the Barons slightly torn up the going should be even easier.

Few Notes On Games

Washington has organized a boosters' club to root for the Senators. They were very much in evidence yesterday, parading the park, accompanied by a brass band.

Exactly 100 hits were made by Southern league batsmen in yesterday's games—20 to a game.

The Senators will have their full regular line-up in the game with Cleveland this afternoon for the first time since the season started. They have been minus one or another player's services until it seemed that they were not going to get together.

CUNNINGHAM'S HIGH STAND

Coach W. A. Cunningham will receive his degree of batchelor of laws today at the regular commencement exercises of the University of Georgia. He will go to Columbia university this summer to round his law course on with a course in banking and insurance.

In addition to full direction of all athletics at the university, Coach Cunningham has been pursuing his law course. Beginning last in the middle of last year Mr. Cunningham attended the law courses regularly. At the beginning of this year he not only had his regular senior work, but also made up his junior law courses which he missed on account of having entered in the middle of the junior law class.

He carried this work while coaching the second best football team in the south last fall and did not fall down on it, making an average of between 90 and 100 in all subjects carried.

The second diploma which he holds, is the second diploma which he holds. His first being a civil engineering degree from Vanderbilt.

In addition to his training received at the University of Georgia, he attended the Michigan law school last summer and will attend Columbia this summer.

GOOD AMATEUR GAME.

The Hallett & Davis ball club meets the fast club from the Atlanta National bank at the Marist diamond Thursday afternoon. The game will get under way at 3:30 o'clock and a real battle is on deck. The bank club has won all games played this season while Hallett & Davis has dropped just one.

Brady Works Final Battle

The last game of the Vol-Cracker series will be played at Ponce de Leon today. The Crackers have already taken two, and in the effort to make it a clean sweep Manager Smith will send King Brady in to stem the tide of swats. He will be opposed by Williams, who, at present looks like Nashville's best bet in the box.

Harry Chapman, who appeared in the local line-up for the first time in two weeks yesterday, will again work behind the bat. His pepper helped the team a great deal in yesterday's game and he will be welcomed again today.

Although Atlanta won yesterday she was left in fourth place by reason of the fact that Montgomery won too. The race, however, for second place is still neck and neck.

No-Hit Game

CHARLOTTE, N. C. June 18.—In a game played between Rockingham and Reeford at the latter place yesterday, May, for Raeford, pitched a no-hit game, striking out sixteen men, while Russell for Rockingham allowed but three hits and fanned nineteen.

COBB'S WORK

Ty Cobb allowed Jackson to increase his hits out of seven times at bat scoring no runs. Jackson made two out of three thereby boosting his percentage, while Cobb dropped four points.

Motorboat Race Now On

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 18.—The motorboat which competed in the race from Philadelphia to David's Head for the Bennett trophy were scheduled to start this evening in a return race. Only two of them, however, Barbara II and Tucson, with Trixie, a Bermuda entry, got away. The Dream was delayed owing to a mishap to her propeller.

WILL YOU BE THERE THURSDAY?

THURSDAY IS THE TIME; BALL PARK THE PLACE

Atlanta Fans Must Turn Out and Show Larger Attendance Than Was Turned in From Birmingham Last Week

One more day, and Atlanta fans will again have the opportunity to show Birmingham that, as a baseball town, the Alabama city does not rank one, two, three with the Cracker stronghold.

When the two cities were fighting for the opening day trophy, Atlanta won out by a few margin under the greatest of difficulties—rain—and now Birmingham has asked for another race, and this will be concluded Thursday, when President W. M. Kavanaugh awards the attendance trophy to the local club. Atlanta is pitting the paid attendance of Thursday against the 3,207 fans who paid their way into the Birmingham park on last Tuesday, when the Baron club raised the pennant won in 1912.

The flag-raising game in Birmingham was played under difficulties, rain keeping down the crowd, and Atlanta will not have the least bit of trouble in turning out enough fans to win the match. A 5,000 crowd is nothing unusual on a week day when the club is winning game after game, and with the added attraction of having the attendance trophy presented, the fans will flock through the gates in even larger numbers.

It has been a long time since President Kavanaugh visited Atlanta, and he is promised a rousing reception. He is the donor of the attendance cup which is to be presented the Cracker team, and in making the award he cannot keep from paying Atlanta a tribute for the support the fans here give the baseball team.

The cup will be presented in a short speech by President Kavanaugh and formally accepted by President F. E. Callaway, of the local association. The ceremonies will be decidedly brief, as the main affair of the afternoon is the playing of the ball game with the Birmingham club.

Of course the fans wish to get the attendance cup, but the main event of the day is to take the ball game. Winning attendance cups does not help in the percentage table, but a ball game won makes a whole lot of difference.

Don't think that it will be any too easy to win the attendance fight with Birmingham, and stay away from the park for this reason. It is better to go to the game and make sure, for if every fan fathers the idea that the Birmingham mark of 3,207 is sure of being beaten, there isn't a chance to win.

Barons Next To Play Here

With Wednesday's game against Bill Schwartz's Volunteers the Birmingham Barons visit Ponce de Leon for a three game stay starting on Thursday, which is the big trade day affair. The 1912 winners are quite popular in Atlanta and will draw good crowds, especially on Thursday when President Kavanaugh presents Atlanta with the attendance trophy.

Right at present the Barons are not going especially well and the Crackers stand a great chance to continue their winning streak which was started against Bill Schwartz's Vols. Atlanta at the present time is going even better than when the wonderful spurt was made at the beginning of the season, the good condition of the hurling corps being largely responsible for the winning of many games.

There is a hot fight on for second place with Mobile falling fast the battle will soon be for the first berth. Atlanta has a great chance to jump in within striking distance of first place within the next two weeks and you can just bet that Billy Smith will make every effort to keep the Crackers on goin at the pace which will make the race close.

OLDER PLAYERS STARRING; ATLANTA TO GET HONORS

Carleton Smith, Nat Thornton, Ed Carter and B. M. Grant Starring

Nothing spectacular or brilliant resulted from yesterday's play in the tournament at the Piedmont club. The play in the singles was carried to the fourth round. Mansfield, Carter, B. M. Grant and Carleton Smith all came through with their matches, playing in good form. At no time were any of them forced to exert themselves and consequently the play in singles was rather slow, an occasional shot featuring. Of the foundation in the tournament Harry Hallman, T. H. Williams and Reg Fleet are putting up good tennis. The first two, though outclassed in their double match, fought hard and pulled off some good shots. Fleet got to going pretty good in the last of his match with Mansfield and staved off defeat for a while by driving a long duce game. The match will be finished today.

Good progress was made in the doubles, the play being brought up to the second round. Here, as in the singles, nothing speedy or fast was pulled off. The teaming up again of B. M. Grant and at Thornton will be watched with interest. There is much speculation as to whether the former southern champions will come back. They were seen in only one good match Tuesday and in part of another in which they put up good games. But they don't seem to be up to their old time form. This pair with Carter and Middlebrooks will battle for a final place from the lower bracket. Smith and Mansfield are sure to come through in the upper bracket.

Wednesday's play should bring out some good matches in both doubles and singles. Ramspeck and Orr are putting up a hard fight against Grant and Thornton. Weakness stopped the match at four all in the first set. The Grant-Mansfield match should be good.

The results of the play Tuesday follows:

SECOND ROUND.

Mansfield defeated McLarty 6-2; 6-2.

Fleet defeated Matthews 6-8; 6-2; 9-7.

THIRD ROUND.

T. H. Williams defeated G. W. McCarty 6-4; 6-2.

E. V. Carter, Jr., defeated G. R. Porter, 6-2; 6-2.

B. M. Grant defeated J. Colquitt 6-2; 6-3.

FOURTH ROUND.

MEN'S DOUBLES.

FIRST ROUND.

Carter and Matthews defeated Hall and Crenshaw 8-6; 6-2.

A. W. Smith and Draper defeated Sims and Fleet 6-3; 8-6.

SECOND ROUND.

MIXED DOUBLES.

FIRST ROUND.

Partner and Orr defeated Partner and Carter by default.

HOW CLUBS PLAY TODAY

(By Associated Press.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 18.—Despite their crippled condition, the Mobile team will make a desperate effort to win the last game of the present series this afternoon. They return to Mobile tomorrow and Manager Finn's wish is to capture this battle before getting home. Early today he indicated that Cavet would likely pitch for the visitors, although it is Hoke's turn. Smith will catch. Case and Donohue will be the Montgomery battery. The weather continues brilliant and hot.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 18.—Birmingham and Chattanooga will play the last game of the series this afternoon and the locals will use their star twirler, Keough. Mayer will catch. Kroh and Street will be the battery for the visitors. Weather fair and hot. Birmingham starts tomorrow on a trip of the circuit.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 18.—In order to permit the New Orleans team to leave for Mobile, the game this afternoon with the locals will be called at 3 o'clock.

Memphis: Newton and Seabough; New Orleans: Brenton or Evans and Adams. The weather is clear and hot.

QUAKERS

Spurt by Phillies No Flash in Pan, and Both Philadelphia Clubs Look Like Winners

—BY JULIAN MURPHEY.—

The great ball being turned out by the two Philadelphia clubs is no longer regarded as of the accidental nature. The rival American and National league moguls are beginning to take the matter seriously and thinking of plans for stopping the tribes of Connie Mack and Charley Dooin.

MACKMEN IN FORM.

The great rush of the Mackmen has never been regarded so much of the accidental nature, every follower of the game fully realizing that Connie Mack has for four seasons past managed a club which had both the necessary defensive and offensive power to be right in the race. Last season Mack could not get his stars to going in jam-up shape and the result was a flag for Boston even though it was apparent that the Mack tribe was the stronger bunch.

This year it is vastly different. The Mack tribe hit its stride with the opening of the season and right now it is making history. In the last seventeen starts the Philadelphia bunch has won just sixteen games, the defeat of Wednesday being the first setback in over two weeks. The team proved its real class against Cleveland on Thursday when it made the Naps look like a bush league outfit. And Mack promises to show up a few more clubs in just as decisive a manner.

In claiming two pennants for Philadelphia the success of the Phillies was the only part in doubt. The writers never once figured that there would be any doubt of the Athletics copping while they all figured a big slump on the part of the Philadelphia.

PHILLIES GO STRONG.

The expected caving-in of the Phillies has as yet failed to materialize. The pitchers have been keeping up their grand work in approved fashion while the hitters continue to dingle out the swats as in the past. With Lobert, Cravath, Paskert, Magee and Knabe going at their present clip any twirler who faces Doobin's bunch has a hard job ahead and must continually keep on the lookout. A game against such a bunch of swatsmiths is not cinched until the last man has been retired in the ninth, any one of three hitters being apt to place the ball over the fence at just any old time.

Until the past two weeks John McGraw, dean leader of the Giants, had never regarded the Phillies as such competent contenders. He referred to their winning streak as a spurt which would soon terminate but now he is changing his tune. The spurt has continued too long to be regarded in any such light. It is now a case of the Phillies having the players who can win under most any conditions.

RICHARDS STAR ON MOTOR; MAKES 86 MILES AN HOUR

Much Interest Aroused in Motorcycle Events—Next Meet Saturday Night

There was nothing to it but Tex Richards in the fast motorcycle events at Prince's motordrome Tuesday evening, this young rider clipping off eighty-six miles an hour and winning each heat in which he participated. Richards did not have any easy time in winning all the heats, being most closely pressed in several, all of which goes toward making the motor racing game so fascinating.

The races Tuesday evening were longer than those staged in the first performance, and this made a hit with the spectators. The longer the race the more chance the spectators have to get up enthusiasm, and it is the thrills that attract the people. The races Tuesday evening were for two, three and five miles each, and this gave the riders ample time to get up their very fastest speed and fight out their races.

It takes the greatest amount of nerve to rush around the steep saucer Jack Prince has put up, but each of the riders now here certainly doesn't mind risking his life to get the fastest time from his machine. Harry Glenn, the local boy who took up the game some three weeks ago, is now rushing around at the rate of a mile every forty-five seconds. He has taken to the game like a duck to water, and before another month has passed he will be rushing the professionals for big prizes.

The motordrome is well lighted, and from the number of fans who were on hand for Tuesday's races the game has evidently taken a big hold. The saucer is uncovered and very cool.

Here is the result of Tuesday's events:

GEORGIA SWEEPSTAKES.

First heat: Won by Tex Richards; George Read, second; Billy Shields, third. Time, 1:25.

Second heat: Lockner, first; Swartz, second; Graves, third. Time, 1:30.

Third heat: McNeil, first; Glenn, second; Lewis, third; Luther, fourth. Time, 1:30.

MOTORDROME PURSE.

(Heats three miles; final four miles.)

First heat: McNeil, first; Shields, second; Swartz, third. Time, 2:16.

Second heat: Lockner, first; Luther, second; Glenn, third. Time, 2:60.

Third heat: Richards, first; Renal, second; Graves, third; Lewis, fourth. Time, 2:10 3-5.

Smith's Triple Wins Game

Errors came near costing Joe Conzelman a game he deserved. There were three bad misplays made back of the young hurler, each of which was the starting of a rally which resulted in the scoring of a run. A couple of bingles from the third, a triple by Smith and single by Bisland, however, made up for the misplays and won another game for Atlanta, the count being 7-6.

The game Tuesday was the longest played at the local yard this season. And it was the first one to show good baseball, both Beck and Conzelman often tightening up at critical moments and killing rallies.

Two triples in the opening inning, one by Long and the other by Bailey, gave the Crackers the score start which kept the team in the running. First up was *Long then Bailey. In the meantime Al*perman was hit by a pitched ball and Smith kicked in with a long sacrifice fly.

Wallace Smith chimed in with two of the timeliest hits of the afternoon. One came in the eighth and scored a run and the other was his long triple to the score board in the ninth inning, which paved the way for the victory.

Maybe Joe Conzelman isn't some hitter. He made just three of the ten hits secured off Beck and the stinging bingle of the latter sent two runners scampering home and proved a big factor in the outcome.

Forest More, the ex-Vol, took up the box work for the Vols in the ninth and was hit decidedly opportunely. He was in a tough hitch inning but managed to pull through until the thirteenth. He allowed four hits in the five rounds he hurled.

Izzy Bisland made just one hit, but it was at the right time, coming just after two bingles had tripled in the final stanza. He had also eleven putouts and of this number accepted ten, his one error being on a peg to second to catch a base stealer.

A most peculiar play came up in the fifth when Bailey with Goalby on first and Gibson was fanned. Goalby broke for second when the catcher missed the final strike and when Bisland failed to tag him touchingly the lug insisted he was safe and was credited with a stolen base, the batter being out when he returned with first base occupied and no one out.

WAHOO WILL BE UMPIRE

WAYCROSS, Ga., June 18.—Catcher Hawkins, recently with the Jacksonville, Fla., South Atlantic league team, is now manager for Waycross. He took the position vacated yesterday by Charlie Wahoo, of Atlanta, who it is is understood will umpire. Hawkins will make a few changes in the local team without delay and expects it to put Waycross in the first division. He has signed Morrison, of Pennsylvania, and Shannon of Charleston, S. C., Charleston. Daly, also of Pennsylvania, is now playing short for the locals. Anderson going to left field.

THE LOST GODDESS.

When an incense comes as the south wind blows
And ghosts of the twilight hover near,
An old, old longing stirs the breast
And we turn to Her and the Yesteryear.

When tasseled plumes of the cornland bend
When drowsy birds in the maples send
When lanes are light with the morning's glow
And night with the silver moon comes clear—
And we turn to Her and the Yesteryear.

We only know that the dream has passed,
That the voice is lost where the trail runs sere,
But as long as the summer roses last
And we turn to Her and the Yesteryear.

Switching abruptly to the American league pennant race— But is there an American league pennant race left? If so, will someone kindly point in the general direction of the same, or indicate the spot by an arrow or cross-mark?

Which recalls the fact that the slugging Naps, of Cleveland, are now looking for the expert who suggested that Connie Mack had no pitchers to carry on the war. They would be much obliged for information leading to said expert's whereabout, remembering, as they will do, what Messrs. Plank and Bender happened to have when the proper moment arrived.

POPULAR SONGS.

"I don't know where I'm going, but I'm on my way."—F. Leroy Chance.

"It's a grand old rag."—C. McGillicuddy.

"He's more to be pitied than censured."—C. Webb Murphy.

"I got mine, boys; I got mine."—T. Raymond Cobb.

"Ain't it funny what a difference just a few short weeks can make?"—F. Clarke, accompanied by J. Garland Stahl.

While Professor Walsh isn't all the way back yet, the renowned anointer is veering toward the old-time beat. The fact that the White Sox stuck up there among the first four, almost without his services, all this time, shows that Cal has the prospectus for a regular cast, once the Magic Reel is ready to display his complete film before the astonished populace.

Walsh pitching once every three weeks and Walsh pitching five times in one week is calculated to produce quite a difference in the standing of the club.

What percentage of the game is pitching? Ask any ball club that faces Washington with Johnson in the pit and then with Johnson on the bench. The answer will be 102 per cent.

Who does the expert remarked, "There is nothing new under the sun," account for the fact that nearly a week has passed without an additional "white hope" sticking his clammy mug athwart the horizon? Or does this phenomenon admit of any rebuttal?

Dundee Swift And Won Bout

White's Showing Keen Disappointment to His Many Loyal Backers

LOS ANGELES, June 18.—Johnny Dundee, of New York, was given the decision over Jack White, of Chicago, at the end of their twenty-round bout at Vernon arena last night. They fought at catch weights.

White's showing was a distinct surprise, although two to one money, with the New Yorker on the long end, had gone begging. The Chicago featherweight more than held his own in the first half of the fight, and at ten rounds it would have been a good draw. After that, however, he weakened, although, in flashes, he punished Dundee with body punches. Dundee's dazzling speed, however, was too much for the Chicagoan. Jumping about his antagonist, darting in and out, he dazed White with straight lefts to the face, alternating with an occasional right slam to the jaw. The end of the fight found Dundee just as fast and strong as ever, while White was wilting fast.

There was not a knockout during the encounter. White appeared to have much the harder punch, but Dundee gave him few opportunities to set himself, and in most of the slugging exchanges Dundee had the advantage.

Several of the early rounds were fairly even, but after the tenth White did not have a chance. There was considerable clinching, but very little resting, and Dundee had a big lead in the closer range exchanges.

Yale Takes First Game

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 18.—Yale shut out Harvard 2 to 0 in the first game of the series between the rival universities before a commencement crowd of 20,000 persons yesterday. There were no real enlivening features until the ninth inning, when Middlebrook, Yale's centerfielder, made a sensational catch of Captain Winlate's hard drive and threw to second, catching Hitchcock on a doube pay. That play ended the game.

Both teams left for Cambridge last night. The second game will be played today.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Yale	2	8	2
Harvard	0	5	0

Gile and Burdett; Furye, Hitchcock and Young.

Chairman Edwards Resigns

CHICAGO, June 18.—P. E. Edwards, chairman of the technical board of the American Automobile association, resigned yesterday, stating that his acceptance of a local agency for an automobile concern made him ineligible to longer hold his office in the organization.

Panama Fans To See Perry

Jimmy Perry, the Pittsburg boy who became so popular in local boxing circles, is now contemplating a long trip to Panama, during which he will wage many hard battles. Jimmy is in good health and expects to get away with a good record while away.

Since leaving Atlanta Perry has fought several mighty good matches with the best boys in his class. The hot summer has put the game on the blink up around Pittsburg and it is for this reason Perry wishes to travel over to Panama. While it is hot over there the natives are not opposed to attending the matches and they are big successes.

New Record Set

EASTON, Pa., June 18.—A new world's record for a four-mile relay race was made here today by members of the team of the Boston Athletic association when they covered the distance in 17 minutes 51 1-5 seconds. The best previous athletic club's record was 18 minutes 8 4-5 seconds, by the Irish-American club of New York.

There were three circuit smashes in the fifth inning of the second Montgomery-Mobile game, Stock Walker and Sloan driving the ball.

Harry Holland Badly Wanted

The major league ball clubs are making another concerted effort to get Harry Holland, the ex-Tech star, into the national game, some of the offers being of the most flattering kind. As yet Holland is firmly holding out but there is a chance that he will finally "fall" and go to some good club.

It is mighty hard to turn down such good offers as have been made Holland when you can really play like the ex-Jacket star. And he likes the game. The inducements offered by some of the clubs is far in excess of what they pay many players who jump up from some Class B or even Class A league, hunt Holland has to date held out against these flattering temptations.

Japs Are Defeated

NAGOYA, Japan, June 18.—The baseball team representing Leland Stanford, Jr., university, defeated Keia university. The score:

Stanford	4	8	1

Poultry Work In Georgia

WE are glad to receive a splendid bulletin recently sent out by the Georgia Experiment station at Griffin. Professor Rolf has been in charge of this work less than a year, and with only a limited amount of money has made rapid progress in this line of work at Experiment. It is a pity that the station will drop the poultry work after it has gotten under such nice headway and beginning to do the good they are doing in this line of industry No money for experimental purposes could possibly be expended that would be worth more to our state for the same amount invested than to keep up the experimental work in poultry in our state. It is one of the things that will help such a large mass of people, and just so long as we are sending out of the state about $6,000,000 every year for poultry products when they could so easily be raised in this state, and the way to bring this work about quickly would be through the work at the experiment station and the Georgia College of Agriculture. We certainly need information and a lot of experimenting on this line, and there are but few states in the union but that are paying more attention and appropriating a lot of money for their poultry departments far in excess of the amount Georgia is expending.

The circular that Professor Rolf has just issued and is sending out gratis to everyone who will ask for it should be in the hands of every farmer and poultryman in the state of Georgia. There is some valuable data contained in this curcular, some information that I myself, who have been in the poultry business all my life, am more than glad to get and is worth hundreds of dollars to me. Some experimental work that he has done has enlightened and given me information that I have never been able to obtain otherwise, and there are a great many things connected with our conditions here in Georgia that we should know about that can only be gotten or had through this experimental work here in our climate. The information given us through other sections of country does not always apply to our particular section. We need this information badly and the value of this industry in Georgia and the amount of taxes that the citizens of this state pay from money derived from poultry entitles every citizen in the state who has poultry or who is interested in it that we should be given this information. Our money is being expended in many ways but there is but precious little of the appropriation applied to the poultry work, something that is worth as much to our state as most any other line of farm industry. There is one disease alone that cost the breeders of this state thousands of dollars in loss every year, we refer to roup. This I am confident could be entirely overcome by inoculation, the same as hog cholera is treated, and if our poultry departments are maintained I am confident this work will be taken up and information given the public on this subject that would save thousands of dollars for us. This disease does not appear in the north or in the west, but is very prevalent in all the southern states and needs close study and some method found out by which this trouble will be overcome.

Prof. Jones, at Athens, and Prof. Rolf, at Experiment, have done some valuable work and deserve much credit for the work they have done in so short a time and on the scant and short appropriation they have had to work on, and every poultryman in the state of Georgia should see their representative in the legislature and senate and demand that the poultryman's interest shall be maintained and looked after, just as much so as horticulture, cotton, corn, dairying or any other line of work that is now receiving liberal appropriation to keep up and maintain. If we do not ask for it and demand it we will never get it. Therefore we should not sit idle but should see that the poultry work in this state is kept up to the highest standard and enough money set aside to continue this work as it will mean as much to revenue brought back or kept into the state as any other line of work that can be carried on.

Yours very truly,

George Rau

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.
Atlanta, Ga.

I would appreciate a little information regarding my young chickens.

We feed them with scratch feed, Aunt Patsy mash and clover. Of late they have been dying, they droop about for a few days and sleep. I find on examining them that they are very poor. We disinfect the roosts and coops. I can't find any sign of lice or mites. Our chickens are White Leghorns and Barred Rocks. Will appreciate a reply in The Journal very much.

MRS. B. H. R.

ANSWER.

There is evidently something wrong in the way you are feeding or your chickens are from weak parent stock. It may be possible that you have upset their digestive organs the first week of their lives. When this is done it is a hard matter to get chickens to do anything. They should have the first week or ten days just what little chick feed they will eat up every two hours, removing that they do not eat. Keep plenty of fresh water before them in a clean earthen or metal vessel, never use a wooden trough as they are often poison. After they are ten days old Aunt Patsy can be kept before them all times in a trough, either wood or metal, covered with 1-4-inch screen wire so that they can get this food in sufficient quantity through the wire without wasting it, but you should continue to feed the scratch feed every two or three hours just the same. With plenty green food and other feeds for a variety such as cracked rice, whole wheat should be added from time to time, simply using judgment. Keep them hungry, but their appetites satisfied every two hours. When this is done there is no reason why the little chickens should not do well. If their wings become long and droop clip the feathers with a pair of scissors. It will help them. Do not crowd them, and keep them in a dry place off of the ground.

Aunt Patsy Poultry Feed Co.,
Memphis, Tenn.

Gentlemen:

I'm a blacksmith and a chicken crank. I raise single-comb Rhode Island Reds and White Wyandottes. I have been feeding Aunt Patsy's Poultry Feed for some time and have found it more satisfactory than anything I have tried. I have been buying the feed from Craig Bros. but they are at present out of it and I am not willing to use the feed they have in stock, so I want to know if you will sell me a few hundred pounds, and if so, at what price delivered at Pickens?

I would not ask you to do this if anybody here handled your feed, but as I can't buy it here and don't want to use anything else I hope you will make me a price by return mail.

Yours respectfully,
W. M. Rosemond.

FOR SALE—REAL ESTATE

14½% ON $8,000

WE HAVE had listed with us for sale an unusually good income producing piece of property.

Near a manufacturing plan in Edgewood, at the corner of New and Railroad streets, on lot 85x607 feet, we offer thirteen houses, bringing in a monthly income of $97.

These houses have just been gone over thoroughly and are in good condition; all rented and will always stay rented owing to the fact of their nearness to the manufacturing plant.

This property can be bought for $8,000 on reasonable terms. Look around and see what you can get on an income basis for $8,000, and then take a look at this.

FOR RENT—HOUSES

IN ANSLEY PARK, West End and all of the prettiest residence sections of the city we have a number of handsomely furnished homes and apartments. These houses are thoroughly modern, carrying all conveniences. Prettily furnished throughout, with the exception of silver and bed linen. Most of these are on good lots, exceptional neighborhood, with splendid car service. Most of these can be rented for the summer months, and a few for an indefinite period. Will take pleasure in showing these to you.

SUBURBAN HOMES.

IN INMAN PARK, Kirkwood and Decatur we have a number of very attractive bungalows and cottages, also a few larger homes. These places carry all conveniences, excepting in Kirkwood and Decatur they have no gas, but plumbing and electric lights. Are on good shady lots, splendid neighborhoods, best car service, schools and churches. This is the most attractive time in the suburbs and with the present conveniences no hardship in winter.

IF YOU ARE looking for a business location, either centrally located or in some popular suburb, or if you are looking for a residence either in the small, you should consult our list. We would take pleasure in telling you about any of them, and are prepared at all times with comfortable conveyance to show our property.

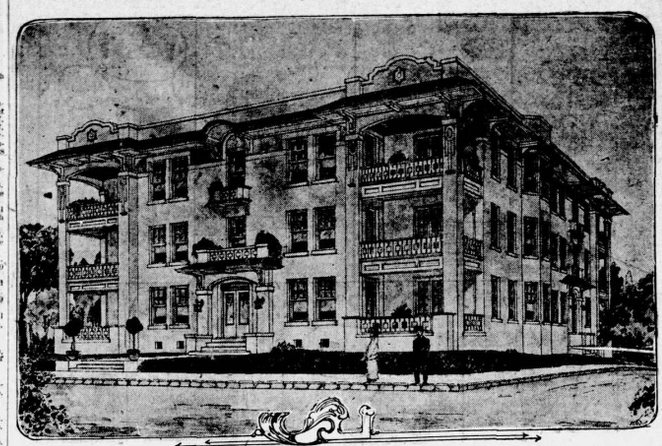
NEW SOUTH SIDE APARTMENT HOUSE



Work is progressing very rapidly on the new three-story apartment house at the corner of Washington and Bass streets that is being erected by S. S. Selig, Jr., at a cost of $35,000.

There are to be nine apartments of six rooms each. Each apartment will have private front and back porch, as well as a sleeping porch. The building will be equipped with steam heat, electricity, and all modern conveniences. Buff pressed brick will form the exterior and the roof will be of tile.

The contract for the building has been let to the Gresham Manufacturing company, A. F. N. Everett is the architect. The building, when completed October 1, will be one of the handsomest and best equipped apartment houses on the south side.

COMMITTEE TO RAISE $5,000 FOR CORN SHOW

Chamber of Commerce Members Lunch at Majestic and Plan Campaign for Prizes

Fifty members of the chamber of commerce, including the corn show committee headed by H. G. Hastings, met at the Majestic hotel Wednesday afternoon at an informal luncheon, gotten up within the last twenty-four hours, to make definite plans for raising $5,000 for prizes to be awarded the winners at the exhibition.

Within the past few weeks it has become evident from reports received from all parts of the state that the show this year will be so large as to occupy every available foot of space in the corridors of the state capitol. Since the last show more clubs have come into existence, and, accordingly, the membership in Georgia has increased materially. The prospects for this year are the brightest in the history of the organization, and it was felt necessary that something be done at once to insure proper attention for it.

It was decided by those present that the best manner in which to handle the matter is to appoint a number of committees, which will begin work at once toward raising the necessary amount.

Enthusiasm was manifest, and confidence was expressed that the money would be raised within a few days. Governor-elect John M. Slaton has tendered the use of the corridors of the capitol, and all that is left to be done is the raising of $5,000 in subscriptions.

REV. MR. CHOWNING ASKS DAMAGE FOR HIS ARREST

Sues for $5,000 for Detention as Thief of Grip Found Later

Asserting that his reputation has been damaged to the extent of $10,000, the Rev. A. Campbell Chowning, 138 Pulliam street, on Wednesday filed suit in superior court against the Shoen Porter Fertilizing company, Samuel Hewitt, S. E. Broadnax, J. R. Porter, W. J. Eakes and J. J. Cowan, who, he said, caused him to be arrested falsely and humiliated him in the Fourth National bank building on December 1, 1912.

The Rev. Mr. Chowning told the court that he had gone to the Fourth National bank building to sell a religious work of his own writing. He began on the fifteenth floor and proceeded downward. He got to the fourth floor at noon and left the building for his house.

Early in the afternoon, he asserted, Hewitt and others came to his house and accused him of stealing a grip containing $60 from the office of the fertilizer company. They took him to the building, and later to police headquarters, where Detectives Lee and Newport Lanford subjected him to a severe grilling which lasted close to two hours and a half.

Then he was carried back to the Fourth National bank building and led over the place again, and finally was remanded to the county jail, he recites. All this occurred, he said, without authority of a warrant.

Along about 8 o'clock at night, he said, a warrant charging him with larceny from the house was procured at a justice court and later he was arranged and bound over to the grand jury.

After spending some twenty-four hours in jail, he declared, he was told that the valise had been found and he was set free without further court parley.

He said that the story of his predicament had been given great publicity and his friends, having had opportunity of hearing but one side of the argument, had turned from him.

ENOUGH TO AROUSE GA., SAYS HE OF BOOK COST

A. P. Herrington, of Atlanta, Says Rep. McCrory Exposes Great School Imposition

Atlanta, Ga., May 29, 1913.

Atlanta Journal: I am not connected with anyone buying school books for Georgia children and while his rate of percentage is wrong it is certainly large enough to arouse the citizens of Georgia to the imposition heaped upon them if what Mr. C. R. McCrory states is true regarding what we pay and what is paid in Ontario. The percentage and difference is so great it is worthy of attention.

I give you my percentage and cost in Ontario as asked for by Mr. C. R. McCrory, of Ellaville, Ga.

Georgia pays $1.96 36-59 per cent more than Ontario. It costs Ontario $337,-142.85 5-7 for what Georgia pays $1,000,000.00, thereby a saving of $662,857.14 2-7 in Ontario's favor. This is worth Georgia's investigating and Mr. McCrory is entitled to large remuneration for the information. Now, legislators, get busy. If you do not, the people should.

WOULD STANDARDIZE BY LAW, GRADING OF COTTON

A bill having for its object the standardizing of the grade and classification of cotton will be introduced at the session of the legislature by Representative O. T. Gower, of Crisp.

Mr. Gower expects his bill, if adopted into law, to put a stop to false grading of cotton which he says each year results in heavy losses to the farmers.

The bill provides for a board of arbitration to settle disputes arising between buyer and seller concerning the classification and grading of cotton, and it will require the purchaser to specify the class of cotton whether Liverpool or American, and to designate the classification at the time of

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION HEARS OF CANCER CURE

Dr. W. B. Mayor Declares Before Convention That Cancer of Stomach Is Curable

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., June 18.—In fifteen sectional meetings the second day of the sixty-fourth annual convention of the American Medical association opened today. Various subjects were discussed.

That cancer of the stomach is a curable disease was the declaration of Dr. William B. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn.

"A favorable diagnosis can be established by simple methods," he asserted. "A history of gastric disturbances precedes cancer in a large number if not the majority of cases. Operations for cancer of the stomach should begin as an exploration. Moderate involvement of the pancreas does not necessarily preclude operation. Palliative operations have a field of usefulness."

Dr. Mayo gave a review of statistics of signs and symptoms observed in one thousand patients operated on for cancer of the stomach.

Radium as a physical agency was discussed in a paper by Dr. Howard A. Kelly, of Baltimore. Its action, he said, is local and it is destined to be a potent aid in the treatment of gynecology. He asserted that radium will cure some cancers and will especially eliminate many cases of local recurrence which are difficult to treat by many of the customary surgical methods.

TREATMENT OF TUMORS.

Its importance in the treatment of fibroid tumors is just beginning to be recognized. It checks hemorrhage and in some cases materially decreases the size of the growths. In pelvic inflammatory diseases its use is very helpful, but this, he said, is still a new field.

Lantern slides were used by Dr. J. A. Stucky, of Lexington, Ky., to illustrate a paper on trachoma among the mountaineers of eastern Kentucky. The increase of this disease in twenty-five years among the Anglo-Saxons of these mountains led Dr. Stucky to make a trip of observation through five counties on muleback.

He described unmistakably evidence of the infectiousness and destructiveness of the disease. He gave the delegates what he considered a solution of the problem of eradicating the malady.

Trachoma among the Indians was discussed in a paper by Dr. J. W. Schereschewsky, of Washington, D. C. He asserted of 29,000 Indians in the United States 17 per cent were suffering from trachoma. The incidence of the disease examined in Oklahoma to 0.2 per cent in Utes from over 70 per cent of those examined in New York state. The disease was most prevalent among Indians of the boarding schools and least among those on reservations.

NEEDLESS BLINDNESS.

Six thousand needless cases of blindness occur in the United States each year. This statement was made by Henry Copley Greene, agent for the conservation of eyesight of the Massachusetts commission for the blind.

This statement, Mr. Greene said, was a challenge to the medical profession and called for the co-operation of oculists, social workers and law makers. Much of the needless blindness, he said, was due to lack of attention to sore eyes among babies.

While Dr. C. D. Camp, of Ann Arbor, Mich., had noted no undue proportion of cases of epilepsy and insanity among locomotive engineers and firemen, he suggested that it would be in the interest of the traveling public to examine candidates for these positions as to these afflictions.

BANDITS HOLD UP TRAIN AND THEN CAPTURE POSSE

Posse Arrives While Robbers Are at Work—Two Officers Caught and Disarmed

(By Associated Press.)

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., June 18.—Two bandits who held up the Diamond Special of the Illinois Central in a spectacular manner, cowed the passengers, fought off a hastily organized posse and applied at least six charges of dynamite to the "through" safe, were ill paid for their daring attempt. The explosive failed to break the heavy safe containing $25,000.

Soon after last midnight, as the train bound from Chicago to St. Louis, neared Glenarm, ten miles south of here, a masked man climbed over the tender and ordered the engineer to "stop her." He did.

As curious trainmen and passengers peered out of the cars to see what was the trouble they heard bullets whizzing past their heads and ordered by one of the bandits to stay in the cars. The other meanwhile was cutting off the express car. After taking his partner aboard, he ordered the engineer to pull the express car down the track. They proceeded some distance toward the city.

The first charge of dynamite aroused some farmers and after the second charge had been fired they telephoned to the city. Several officers jumped into automobiles and hurried to the scene. The robbers still were at work when the posse arrived.

The daring robbers not only started to get the posse, but captured and disarmed two members of it, one a policeman and the other a newspaper reporter. When the battle became too hot they boarded the engine, which had been cut off from the express car, and ran it rapidly toward this city. When near the city limits they jumped from the engine and fled.

The agent of Wells-Fargo & Co. here said the local safe which was blown open contained about $500 and that this amount would cover the loss.

The holdup in many ways was similar to the attempted robbery of the "Alton Hummer" on the Chicago & Alton three miles south of Springfield, last December. Two men held up the "Hummer" after climbing over the tender, covering the engineer and fireman with their revolvers and forcing the engineer to uncouple the express car and run it a few miles down the track. As in this morning's holdup dynamite was used in the attempt to blow the safe.

Reward of $1,000 Is Offered for the Bandits

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, June 18.—The robbers who held up the Illinois Central train at Glenarm, Ill., obtained $500 from a small safe in the express car. They failed to get several thousand in a second and larger safe. This statement was made after the arrival of the statement here today by officials of the railroad. A reward of $1,000 was offered for the capture of the robbers.

QUICK STOP MADE BY MILE-A-MINUTE TRAIN

(By Associated Press.)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 18.—The inquiry into last week's wreck on the New Haven railroad disclosed a new phase yesterday, which was said by railroad men to be quite unusual.

The second section of the express which ran into the rear of the first section last Thursday was made up again with the same engine and equipment and sent from New Haven to Stamford to reproduce as nearly as possible the conditions which existed when the wreck ocurred.

As on the day of the wreck, two service applications of the brakes were followed by an emergency application. The stop was made in thirty-eight seconds when the train was running sixty-two miles an hour and was made within 2,100 feet. Air brake experts said the stop was a very good one.

Wonderful Treatment For Corns, Calluses and All Sore Feet

Millions of people who endure daily torture from sore feet will welcome the information that there is now a simple treatment that positively and quickly cures foot ailments of all kinds. You can say goodbye to corns and callouses; bunions; swollen, aching, bad smelling and sweaty feet. This treatment works right through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Use it once and your feet feel delightful; use it for a week and your foot troubles will be a thing of the past. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." Amazing results follow. Calocide was formerly confined to doctors' use but now any druggist will supply it. If he does not have it in stock he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is said to be enough to put the worst feet in fine condition.—(Adv.)

LURAY, Va., June 18.—Diving beneath the surface of the earth, Dr. W. H. Jenkins, of Roanoke, Va., came up a benedict. Miss Leathia Phipps, of Newport News, Va., at the same time cast off spinsterhood and the two left today as bride and groom for a honeymoon in the east. Dr. Jenkins and Miss Phipps were exploring the Luray caverns when they decided to marry. A minister was summoned and with the tinkle of trickling waters as their wedding music the ceremony was performed.

Dies From Eating Plums

ROME, Ga., June 18.—C. T. Ridley, twenty-five years old, a well-known citizen of Lindale, died yesterday from eating plums. He was convalescing from an attack of typhoid fever and was able to be up and about the house. He ate freely of fruit from a plum orchard near by, was immediately taken very ill and died in a few hours.

Monument to Gardener

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Florists throughout the country are preparing for the erection of a suitable monument here to the late William Robertson Smith, for more than a half century superintendent of the United States botanic gardens. William F. Gude, chairman of the special committee of the American Florists and Ornamental Horticulturalists, today sent a letter of notification to that organization's members and to horticultural societies affiliated with it.

If You Pay for Water, Get What You Pay For

Many people realize the danger in drinking common hydrant water, and for health protection buy their drinking water from other sources. In many cases, unfortunately, the spring waters they buy are as dangerous as city water—always containing harmful bacteria; often typhoid and other deadly germs.

PURA Is the Best Distilled Water

Pura Water is distilled by scientific methods in a modern and thoroughly sanitary plant. It is pure—absolutely. A delightful drinking water—clear, sparkling, light and tasteless—free from all mineral matter.

Pura Water is furnished to offices, stores and other places of business in the Pura Cooler—iced and supplied as needs demand. In cases of half-gallon bottles for residences.
